Three Persons Are Injured As Auto Hits Street Car

Three persons, one of whom was in an unconscious condition, were rushed to the Royal Alexandra hospital shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday, after an auto, which police said was travelling at a high rate of speed, crashed into a street car, lifted the front trucks off the tracks, and forced a truck operator into a steel post, at 115 avenue and 95 street. Left side of the vestibule of the tram was damaged, the front end of the auto was completely demolished, and the front of the truck was caved in.

Brings Wounded

Hospital Ship, Lady Nelson, Docks in East

HALIFAX, Jan. 5.—(CP)—More than 100 wounded veterans of the fighting in Sicily and Italy, the "Red Patch Devils" of the Canadian 1st Division in the British 8th Army, arrived here today aboard the hospital ship Lady Nelson, and impatiently awaited their transfer to the trains that would take them back to their homes, or at least back to their home provinces.

Also returning aboard the white-painted former cruise liner were large numbers of Canadian troops invalided home from Britain because of illness or accidents, some R.C.A.F. personnel and a few members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

The soldiers crowded the rails of the ship as she nudged into her dock and craned their necks for a glimpse of the almost-forgotten Canadian skyline. There were others, though, who couldn't leave their hospital cots to take a look outside and had to rely on their comrades' descriptions.

TRAINS RECEIVE THEM

Although they didn't get home in time for Christmas or the New Year's holiday, the news they were being returned was "as good a treat as any," one lad grinned.

Hospital trains which had been lying in readiness here pulled into the dock area today and unloading was begun this afternoon.

Among men wounded in Italy are: Corporal Charles A. Daigneau, Royal 22nd Regiment, of Athabasca, Alta., and Trooper Patrick Cairns, Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, of Edmonton.

Those back from England are: Private Melvin Meyer, R.C.A. S.C. of Wetaskiwin, Alta., and Private Donald Bell, 8th Army Field Regiment, R.C.A. of Edmonton.

Call Convention To Talk Election Of Airport Chain

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP)—A meeting under co-sponsorship of the Aeronautical Institute of Canada and the National Industrial Federation decided last night to hold a national convention early in March for discussion of the Aeronautical Institute's plan to encourage construction of 400 airports across Canada.

IN HOSPITAL
Cecil L. Talbot, 9838 112 street, driver of the car, who suffered scalp wounds;
Louis de la Cruse, 10223 122 street, unconscious from severe head injuries;
Charley Bennie, 9324 111 avenue, who also suffered from scalp wounds.

The accident occurred when the car, driven by Talbot, who was accompanied by de la Cruse, approached the intersection of 95 street and 115 avenue from the east, as street car No. 44, operated by William Powell, motorman, of the Fairview hotel, approached from the north.

PASSED STOP SIGN

"I saw the auto as I entered the intersection," Powell told police authorities. "It was coming west and went through the stop sign."

Powell stated he believed the car was travelling between 50 and 60 miles an hour. In an effort to try and avoid an accident, he said he put the tram into reverse, applied his brakes and cut off the power.

The car, however, struck the tram.

U.S. Prohibition Move Denounced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Rep. Emanuel Celler (Dem.-N.Y.), said today a congressional movement for national prohibition is a "sordid" attempt to take advantage of men in uniform.

Celler, ranking member of a judicial sub-committee which will begin hearings next week on a prohibition bill, issued a statement declaring "Our soldiers can fight and die for their country, but they cannot be trusted with a cocktail or a glass of beer."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (Dem.-Pa.), also a member of the sub-committee, said at his home in Pennsylvania today he would oppose the legislation which would ban, for the duration of the war, beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent alcohol.

His opposition sprang from a feeling that it would be unfair to take advantage of the absence of thousands of servicemen, as in the First Great War, he said.

Germans Drafting Children For Work

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Strong Allied bomber formations, stepping up the pre-invasion softening of Axis Europe, smashed anew at the French "second front" coast today in the wake of a British foray against Berlin and an American blow at Kiel and Munster.

Early reports of the daylight attack said Allied medium bombers escorted by Royal Air Force, Dominion and Allied fighters raided military objectives in Northern France.

The daylight raiders, with an escort of R.A.F. fighters, swept out across the English Channel only a few hours after other British bombers attacked Northern France and twin-engined Mosquitoes hit Berlin and Western Germany last night.

"Like Hot Cakes" Permits Said Selling Fast In This City

Nineteen forty-four liquor permits have been selling like hotcakes in Edmonton since Monday, it was reported Wednesday when a department official said a rush in permit-selling had been experienced at both North Side and South Side liquor vendors' stores.

Under new regulations announced last week, permits may be bought only between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., and no liquor can be sold between those hours. The stores are open from 2 to 7 p.m. for the sale of liquor, and during these hours, no permits can be issued.

The same permit-selling rules are in force in the cities of Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Drumheller, and officials report a large sale of permits in those centres also.

In the main liquor store in Edmonton Tuesday, there was "standing room only" as citizens flocked

Legion Claims Evictions Stay Short of Needs

Order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board halting evictions of tenants in apartments and flats is hailed with satisfaction, but with the feeling it "does not go far enough" by officials of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion.

The Edmonton Legion branch has long been urging a government order that will prevent eviction of families and other dependents of servicemen as long as the war lasts.

"The order is all right but does not go far enough. It does not cover many of the cases where dependents of returned men have faced eviction in Edmonton because these families are residing in houses and not apartments," an official stated.

"We feel the order should be applicable to persons occupying houses as well," the official added. In the meantime Legion heads here gave details of what they termed a "shameful racket" being worked by a landlord on a disabled serviceman tenant.

FORCED TO VACATE

The serviceman, drawing a pension of $85 a month, with which to support a wife and three children, was some months ago forced to vacate the house he had been living in because the building had been condemned by the city.

He finally moved into a six-room house in the Calder district, 14 blocks from a street car line. The house has no bathroom or other modern facilities. The rent of $50 a month had been fixed by a district court judge.

Hardly a Room Left Useable In Chancellery

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A bomb-set fire that burned furiously for four hours after the heavy R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raid Monday practically gutted Hitler's sprawling chancellery, and left scarcely a room useable, a traveller said today.

More than 100 firemen battled the flames and engaged in rescue work. The traveller, who left Berlin yesterday, said he had heard nothing about the fate of persons reported trapped in a shelter under the chancellery.

Lt.-Gen. Leese Is New Chief Of 8th Army

ALGIERS, Jan. 5.—Lt.-Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, corps commander under Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery from El Alamein to Tripoli and again in Sicily, has been appointed commander of the Eighth Army, it was announced today.

Leese, who is more than six feet tall, succeeds Montgomery who has gone to England to command the British ground forces under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The new leader is already in the field.

The new Eighth Army commander led the 30th corps of the same army in the pursuit of Marshal Erwin Rommel across the western desert.

DEPUTY TO GORT

When the second World War broke out, Leese was commander of a Guards brigade. He was named deputy chief of staff to Field Marshal Lord Gort, commanding the British expeditionary force in Flanders.

After the Dunkirk evacuation, Leese commanded a Guards brigade and an armored division.

Fighter Class

Nazis Have 1,000 More Planes Than Year Ago

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A Royal Air Force commentator said today that Germany had achieved "remarkable success" in desperate efforts to strengthen the Luftwaffe and now has 1,000 more front-line fighter planes than a year ago.

Most of the German fighter strength now is massed in western Europe, evidently for use against the opening of the second front and the defence of the most important Nazi targets under Allied air attack.

The commentator noted significantly that the Germans have made no serious attempt so far to defend the so-called "rocket coast" of France, leaving that task to anti-aircraft gunners.

The R.A.F. alone now is pounding Germany with 100 times the bomb tonnage the Germans have dropped on Britain recently, the commentator said.

The bomber command dropped 136,000 tons on Germany, 15,000 on occupied territory and 6,000 on Italy in 1943, the spokesman said, while only 2,500 tons fell on Britain.

During the year, he said, the mounting British and American air power showed the Germans that they had let their aerial production program lapse dangerously, and they now are exerting themselves to the limit to retrieve the lost ground.

Mass Evacuation

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ZURICH, Jan. 5.—Travellers from Berlin said today that a mass evacuation of the capital was under way and that the population was taking in dead earnest the Allied threat to wipe the city off the map.

Since Monday overcrowded trains have been leaving Berlin in an unbroken procession, most of them headed for central and south Germany, the travellers said.

Lowest reading of frost this season was registered Wednesday morning when the thermometer hit 21 degrees below zero. This was the minimum temperature reached overnight. By 2 p.m. today the temperature had risen to 6 below.

Possibility that the progressively lowering temperatures of the last few days have ceased their downward plunge is shown in the weather forecast for today and tomorrow.

The forecast promises "generally fair and becoming a little milder."

Allies Capture 2 Nazi Points

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

ALGIERS, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Allied armies in Italy have seized two commanding positions against fierce Nazi opposition, it was announced today. Neither position was identified in the Allied communiqué.

On the 8th Army front Indian troops seized a spur on a mountain ridge in pushing forward several hundred yards against enemy machine-gun fire southwest of San Tommaso near the Adriatic. San Tommaso was captured New Year's Eve by Canadian troops (the 48th Highlanders of Toronto.)

Troops of the Anglo-American 5th Army advancing a little more than a mile stormed a 2,300-foot height in the Sammucro ridge two miles northeast of San Vittore. The Allied positions there completely dominate San Vittore, ruined town close to the main western highway to Rome, which the Germans are defending tenaciously.

Soviet Trap Threatening Million Huns

By HENRY SHAPIRO

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—The Red army slashed deep into the flank of 1,000,000 Germans threatened with entrapment in the Dnieper Bend today, driving one spearhead 30 miles below Belaya Tserkov and another within 50 miles of the Odessa-Lwow railroad, the Nazis' last trunk route of escape.

Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's troops swung southward and southwestward in a wheeling movement aimed at enveloping the German positions strung precariously eastward from the Bug river line in the lower Ukraine along the Black Sea.

Soviet armored columns were driving down toward Vinnitsa and Zhmerinka, the latter a rail junction through which the bulk of the Germans in the bend must move if they are to escape the grand-scale Russian maneuvers.

Already the Soviet vanguard was reported sweeping through villages directly east of Vinnitsa against the Bug river fortifications and the vital rail line beyond.

Improvement in Land Taxation Reflected Here

Increased employment in Edmonton under the stimulus of the nation's war effort is reflected in payments made by citizens on arrears of land taxes since the outbreak of war. These arrears have been reduced by approximately $1,000,000 since December, 1939, according to a statement issued Wednesday by Thomas Walker, city assessor.

On Dec. 31, 1939 arrears of taxes amounted to $1,623,244, and it is estimated that this figure will be reduced below the $700,000 mark when final adjustments have been made of payments up to Dec. 31, 1943.

There has been a steady decline in the amount of arrears of taxes owing the city. In 1940 the amount was decreased to $1,454,161, a reduction of $169,083. A reduction of $233,453 was effected during 1941 to reduce the arrears to $1,220,708.

As Western Invasion Looms Cromwellian-Like Montgomery Is Bad News Again to Axis

This is the second in a series of dispatches on the leaders of the forthcoming second front invasion of Europe.—EDITOR.

By BOYD LEWIS

United Press Correspondent

The name which Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave the world as the leader of the British and Canadian armies in the coming assault on the western shores of Europe is one which must have brought chills to many a Nazi spine.

Among those tingled spines, perhaps, was that of the erstwhile Nazi gutter fighter, Marshal Erwin Rommel, who has made a military career out of running away from Churchill's choice—Gen. Sir Bernard Law Montgomery, "Monty of El Alamein." Rommel reportedly has been dashing up and down the coast of occupied Europe in recent months under special orders from the Fuehrer to put defenses in order.

Now he knows that the doughty, wiry, sharp-featured Monty, who hurled him back from the gates of Alexandria and has chased his armies all the way to Ortona, Italy, again is on his trail. If the attack on Europe proves to be another "rendevous with Rommel" no one will be more pleased than Montgomery.

Churchill has described him as "Cromwellian." To make himself fit for war he has led an austere, Spartan life, neither drinking nor smoking. front of the street car, smashing in the left side of the vestibule and completely demolishing the windows in the left front. The front trucks left the tracks, turned to the right, and the tram travelled south-west for a distance of 147 feet before tearing up a tree, smashing a fence, and landing at the foot of the steps into the home of S. Hanson, 11456 95 street.

POWELL UNINJURED

Powell miraculously escaped any injury from flying glass, and of 30 passengers in the coach at the time only Bennie was injured seriously enough to require medical attention. One other person, Miss Wilma Graham, 12030 65 street, complained that her back hurt. City Constable C. W. McNicoll, 12602 68 street, also on the car, escaped injury.

Also escaping injury was Pete Hoogers, Pickardville, Alta., driver of the truck which smashed into a steel electric pole at the south-west corner of the intersection.

Hoogers said he had been following the street car. As the tram left the tracks he tried to swing out of the way, and the truck struck the post as the tram rushed past.

HEADED FOR HOUSE

Two passengers on the street car, Alex Amalia and Phil Karpitz, both of 12205 86 street, stated they saw the car coming west and then hit the tram. When the street car left the tracks and plowed across the street, they said, they thought it was going straight into the house in front of them.

Everyone in the tram was calm, they said, adding that it had been travelling at a moderate speed. Car No. 44, it was learned, was a blue line extra.

Immediately following the accident, Talbot and Bennie were taken into a home at 11452 95 street, while the car was carried into another at 11538 95 street. From these homes they were rushed by Smith's ambulance to Royal Alexandra hospital.

Owner of the wrecked car is Claude Graves, 10637 151 street. Graves, as well as Talbot and Bennie, is employed by Metcalfe-Hamilton-Kansas City Bridge Company, Calder. The vehicle was fully insured.

TRAMS RE-ROUTED

Until approximately 9:45 p.m., after a repair crew had pulled the damaged tram back onto the tracks, all Blue and Blue and White traffic had to be re-routed. Other cars which had been following behind the wrecked vehicle, were tied up.

Nazis Tightening Hold on Bulgaria

ISTANBUL, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A traveller who left Sofia at noon Monday said last night the shaky government of Premier Dabov-Bolov still had a feeble grasp on Bulgaria at that time, but had been almost completely disrupted by a combination of strife within the regency and cabinet and powerful public pressure for repudiating the Germans.

This traveller said the Germans, fearful of the results of government overthrow, were rapidly converting their "control" of the country into virtual occupation.

The Bulgarian people apparently have abandoned all hope that Russia might save them from the British and American forces and now are openly demanding a break with Germany or at the least a government change to bring liberals into power, according to this visitor.

Clothing Workers Threaten Strike If Pay Not Raised

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Officials of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a Canadian Congress of Labor affiliated union, announced today that a strike will be called in the Montreal men's and boys' clothing industry if between now and Jan. 15 members are not granted an increase of 10 cents an hour.

Officials added that their membership includes about 90 per cent of the clothing industry workers here, and that a general workers' meeting yesterday approved their union's stand in the matter.

Killed in Action

Mrs. Henry Hightower, Beverly, has received word from Ottawa that her son, PO. Cecil Earl Hightower, was killed in action July 26, 1943.

From the latter post he flew to Cairo to take over the command of the 30th corps.

Leese, 49, is a veteran of the first World War in which he was wounded three times, was awarded the Distinguished Service Order and was mentioned in dispatches three times.

A graduate of Eton, he was a general staff officer in the war office in 1936, and commanded the first battalion of the Coldstream Guards in 1936-38.

Although less taciturn than Gen. Montgomery, the new 8th Army chief is no less a disciplinarian. Like Gen. Montgomery, he enjoys going into the field to see for himself, and always travels at a fast pace with his chauffeur hitting 60 miles or more an hour.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Oliver Leese, successor to Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery as commander of the renowned British 8th Army, is no stranger to Canadians in the Mediterranean.

Domion troops in that theatre served under him before and they will welcome his appointment. During the Sicilian campaign the Canadian 1st Division was in the 30th Corps which was commanded by Gen. Leese from the landing on July 8 until the capture of Messina.

VISITED CANADIANS

Gen. Leese was a frequent visitor to the Canadian sector and during many actions conferred with Maj. Gen. Guy Simonds, then commander of the Canadian division, at the front lines. He is also well known to brigadiers and commanding officers of the Canadian battalions.

His firm decisions and cool judgment enabled his corps to make probably the best showing in Sicily and there were rumors when the campaign was finished that he was likely to get an army command on the basis of his leadership.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Orders for 20 more of the giant Mars flying boats, the first of which has set new records for cargo transportation and over-water flight, have been placed with the Glenn L. Martin Company of Baltimore, Navy Secretary Frank Knox announced yesterday.

The big flying boats will be assigned to the naval air transport service as they are completed. Knox estimated that the first of the new craft would be delivered in about a year.

He disclosed that the original Mars, biggest operating plane in the world, shortly will go into service in the Pacific.

Poles at Home Are Told Not To Fight Reds

By JOSEPH GRIGG

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press LONDON, Jan. 5.—The Polish government-in-exile announced today that members of the Polish underground had been ordered to "continue and intensify their resistance to the German invaders and avoid all conflicts with the Soviet armies entering Poland."

The underground, it added, has been instructed to co-operate fully with the Soviet military commanders "in the event of a resumption of Polish-Soviet relations."

It indicated that Polish guerrilla bands operating in the eastern half of Poland would maintain a hands-off attitude toward Russian troops entering that section until they receive new instructions from the emigre government here.

EXPECT REDRESS

"Poland naturally is entitled to expect full justice and redress as soon as it is liberated from the enemy occupation," the government statement said.

"The first condition of such justice is the earliest re-establishment of the Polish sovereign administration in the liberated territories of the Republic of Poland and the protection of life and property for Polish citizens."

Second Front Coast Targets Heavily Raided

assess, if possible, any additional destruction wrought in the two heavy raids Saturday and Sunday nights. It was probable fires still were burning in the German capital. All planes returned safely from the night operations, which included minelaying.

Yesterday's devastating attacks brought as many as 3,000 Allied aircraft of all types into action and in addition to the raids on the German centres of Kiel and Munster, in which 18 heavy American bombers were lost, large formations of British, Dominion and American planes attacked a large variety of targets in France, Belgium and Holland.

Huge fires and a heavy pall of smoke were observed after the American attack on Kiel, one of Germany's chief submarine and ship-building bases, while fires and explosions were all touched off in the Munster railway yards.

BIG BOMBERS IDLE

British and Canadian four-engine bombers remained on the ground last night for the second straight night, presumably because of inclement weather, but a few German planes dropped bombs on two London districts. Two of the German raiders were shot down.

The German DNB agency denounced yesterday's American raid on Kiel as a "terror attack"—its customary appellation for an effective Allied air assault—and reported that the bombers dropped their explosives through thick clouds from an altitude of 23,000 to 30,000 feet.

The university district and residential areas were hit hard and an historic castle suffered "very heavy damage," DNB said.

And that egg, explained the owner, was the bird's first, and last because she belongs to a species that lays once in a lifetime.

Canadians Eating Better Than Ever Despite Rationing

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Canada as a nation is eating better than ever before despite rationing and occasional shortages, the wartime information board said yesterday in a review of food supplies available to various nations.

The condition of Canada, the United States, Australia and New Zealand in respect to the adequacy of the wartime diet was described as "extremely favorable" when compared with European countries.

"The worst that can be said of rationing (in the United States and three Empire countries) is that it has caused some dislocation of pre-war food habits—most generally in the higher income groups," said the board.

"Rationing has not brought about a significant reduction in calorie consumption from peacetime levels nor has it adversely affected the nutritional quality of the diet of the people as a whole."

Meeting Is Called To Discuss Plans For Saving Food

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5.—(CP)—A meeting of prominent citizens has been called for tomorrow by Mayor Garnet Coulter to consider plans for conservation of food supplies and the prevention of wastage.

"If we are to feed those in European countries, which we must, we may find ourselves faced with a food scarcity here," Mayor Coulter said.

Canada, U.S. Develop Fliers' Exposure Suits

By SANDOR S. KLEIN

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The invention of a lightweight waterproof exposure suit that will increase immeasurably a downed flier's chance of survival in icy seas was announced by the U.S. Navy today.

A joint committee representing Canadian and U.S. air-sea forces recommended the suit after Canadian tests which demonstrated its value, the Navy said.

Several Royal Canadian Air Force crew members volunteered for the experiment. Some dressed only in regulation winter flying suits, and others with the new lightweight exposure suits pulled on over other garb, plunged into 40-degree seas and huddled in bobbing rubber dingies with air temperatures around 29 degrees.

In one series of trials, volunteers in exposure suits swam from an escort craft to a raft and boarded with ease. They remained on the raft until morning, in spite of heavy frost during the night, and suffered no discomfort other than that caused by cramped quarters.

Improvement in Land Taxation Reflected Here

and in 1942 payments reduced the arrears total to $27,960 as of December 31, 1942.

It is estimated that payments in 1943 will further reduce the arrears to approximately $700,000, and city assessor's office officials are hopeful that the amount will be substantially below that estimate.

They point out, however, that payments on arrears of taxes in future will not be sustained as the cream of properties have now been cleared of arrears.

CURRENT COLLECTIONS

Current land tax collection for 1943 amounted to $3,029,148.47 compared with $3,001,345.75 for 1942, while arrears of taxes paid in 1943 was $587,743.95 against $595,172.31. Business tax current collections in 1943 amounted to $274,008.08 compared with $265,290.10. Arrears of business tax collected in 1943 amounted to $29,613.30 compared with $40,613.30 in 1942.

The overall total of tax collections in 1943, business and land taxes, including sales of tax forfeited property, amounted to $4,488,656.05, compared with $4,260,232.72 in 1942.

During 1943 cash from the sales of property taken over by the city for taxes amounted to $567,950.82 compared with $257,811.81 for the previous year, an increase of $310,139.01.

Marines Repulse Japanese Attack

By DON CASWELL

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 5.—U. S. Marines strengthened their hold on Cape Gloucester by crushing the first determined Japanese counter-attack since American forces landed on New Britain, Dec. 26, killing more than 200 enemy troops, a communique said today.

While the battle-toughened Marines were beating back the Japanese, Allied airmen dropped tons of bombs on enemy strongholds and cut off a Japanese attempt to reinforce their position on New Guinea by sinking four loaded enemy barges at Sio and Nambiarua, on the Huon peninsula.

The Japanese reinforcements apparently were intended to support the New Guinea defenses which were crumbling before Australian forces and the U.S. 32nd Division.

Gold Mines May Get Some Relief For Labor Needs

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Canadian gold mines with insufficient manpower to stay in business probably will be given relief soon by National Selective Service, Arthur MacNamara, director of the service, said today.

Assignment of men to gold mining will be made, however, only when the additional labor is essential to keep the mine in operation. No large-scale movement of labor to gold mining is anticipated.

Legion Claims Evictions Stay Short of Needs

ern facilities, was renting for $15 a month, the officials stated. An investigation by Legion representatives showed that the landlord had bought the house in question for $900 in 1928. Living in it himself he had paid about $18 a month on the sale price.

REFUSED LOWER RENT

The landlord had refused to lower the rent but offered to sell the place for $2,000.

An appeal was taken to the rental administrator for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board at Ottawa and a refixation of rental will likely be made it is intimated in a letter to the Edmonton branch of the Legion.

In the meantime the disabled soldier keeps on paying $50 a month.

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(CP)—

The price board announced last night that effective today "tenants in multiple family dwellings, defined as apartments, triplexes, duplexes and self-contained flats, may not be evicted during good behavior."

The Canada-wide order provides that all notices to vacate, which have been given to tenants in multiple family dwellings since Oct. 1 last by landlords, who desire the accommodation as residence for themselves or for relatives "are declared null and void and may be ignored by the tenants."

ORDER REVERSED

This order reversed the ruling contained in order 204 which provided for such evictions on six months' notice.

The provision of the new order does not apply to detached or semi-detached houses or cottages. All six-months' notices to vacate given by landlords to tenants of such residences for the purpose of personal occupancy by the landlord or his relatives remain effective.

Announcement of the order was made by Owen Lobley, rental administrator, who said that "the measure is necessary because it is imperative that the fullest and best use be made of existing shelter if hardship and social disorder are to be avoided."

The order provides, however, that a landlord of a multiple family dwelling who is not at present living in the dwelling can still evict a tenant if he wishes to use the dwelling for himself, but not to make way for one of his relatives.

SECOND NOTICE

If he wishes use of the dwelling himself, and if he had already given the tenant notice of eviction effective May 1, he can still get use of the dwelling for himself by giving a second notice to vacate May 1, providing the notice is given before Jan. 31.

NOTHING LIKE HAVING FAMILY, OR TWO, TO HELP

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Here's how Bill Petersen, night club manager, is meeting the hired help problem: His father is doorman, the hat check girl is his divorced wife; his present wife supervises the dining tables where two daughters by his first wife are waitresses. They all get along congenially and there are two more daughters and a son by the first wife who can work when they become of age.

Factories Bombed In West Germany Rebuilt in Poland

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The German press said today that "a great part" of the factories bombed out in western Germany have been rebuilt in Poland and are in production. The German-controlled Scandinavian telegraph bureau said the news had been published showing plants built in Poland by the Todt Organization.

Passenger, Freight Trains in Collision

SUBURRY, Ont., Jan. 5.—(CP)—A score of passengers on a west-bound Canadian Pacific Railway train today suffered minor injuries when it collided with an eastbound freight a mile east of Spragge.

Spragge is 80 miles west of Sudbury. Doctors and nurses were taken to the scene from Espanola, Blind River and Thessalon.

BLACK PICTURE

The Swedish correspondent said they were given only a black picture of war developments on both sides of Germany as they met with the spokesman in the bomb-damaged foreign office with fires still blazing in Berlin from the heavy R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. raids of Sunday and Monday.

The Germans indicated they did not expect that their army would be able to counter-attack successfully to regain its positions, the dispatches said, although they maintained that because of the two long fronts still existing the Russians would be unable to roll up the flanks.

While one spokesman was pictured as giving a dark description of the situation on the eastern front, another was quoted as saying that "if an invasion doesn't come now that will be the biggest fraud of all times."

NO BOMBING COMMENT

Asked to comment on the great Allied bombing attacks along the French coast, a foreign office spokesman described the raids only as "the usual attacks on the defence line," one dispatch said.

German reluctance to discuss the attacks seemed significant in view of reports that Nazi "rocket cannon" emplacements were situated along the raided coast.

The German press has failed to mention the assaults.

Britain is the only country in the world which conscripts women for its uniformed services. The Women's Auxiliary Air Force has expanded to 78 times its original size.

Permits Said Selling Fast In This City

in to buy their new permits. Although doors were closed at 1 p.m., not until 2 p.m. were all applications for permits filled, so great was the demand.

J. A. H. King, chairman of the Board, said a few objections had been registered against the new permit plan by persons who find it inconvenient to make their application in the forenoon period.

He pointed out that the arrangements were made to take care of the extra rush expected at this time, and also that the plan actually speeds up service at the vendors', in selling to the public.

NOT PERMANENT

It is not the board's intention to keep the present permit-selling plan as a permanent fixture, Mr. King said. Jan. 15 was mentioned as a possible "cut-off" date for the system, when the former system will again be restored. It was declared possible that an earlier date could be named, if the pressure on liquor store staffs was eased.

The plan of having special hours for the sale of permits only was instituted as a measure to relieve the staffs of liquor stores and the general public both, the liquor board chairman stated.

Partisans Seize Three Key Towns

By ROBERT MUSEL

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Reinforced Yugoslav Partisan armies in a sudden burst of strength have captured three strategic inland towns and the offshore Island of Pag, have crushed a German offensive in Eastern Bosnia, and now threaten to envelop part of the Nazi Second Tank army, a communique reported today.

Marshal Josip (Tito) Brozovich's headquarters announced the occupation of Vlasenica, 35 miles northeast of Sarajevo, and the towns of Novovaras and Pacina in an upsurge of fighting all along the Yugoslav front.

The Partisans were holding a line running from Novi through Prijedor and beyond Banja Luka, key stronghold where the Germans established armored headquarters. The Yugoslavs were reported battling through Banja Luka in bloody street fighting. Smashing the German offensive in Eastern Bosnia, the Partisans went over to the attack and recaptured all the territory they had lost in the last two weeks.

Premier Churchill Soon "Fit" Again Letter Discloses

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill said in a letter received by Premier Stanslaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government-in-London yesterday that he is well on the way to complete recovery and "able to play my part in the great decisions which should bring nearer to both our peoples the day of deliverance and freedom."

Mikolajczyk had written Mr. Churchill, who is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia, expressing hope for his speedy recovery.

Russian Paper Asserts Willkie 'Double-Dealing'

By M. S. HANDLER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—The official Communist party newspaper Pravda today accused Wendell L. Willkie of "double-dealing" in American politics and of attempting to create distrust of the Soviet Union among voters in the United States.

Pravda charged that Willkie was trying to appeal to the majority of Americans who are sympathetic to Russia and at the same time was "currying favor" with anti-Soviet elements in America.

The newspaper's political commentator, Daniel Zaslavsky, who wrote the attack on Willkie, centred his fire on a recent article written for the New York Times by the one-time Republican presidential candidate, in which Willkie urged Americans not to sow distrust of Russia.

HAS OPPOSITE EFFECT

Zaslavsky charged that the article had created exactly the opposite effect and accused Willkie of "muddying the water" of Soviet-American relations.

He expressed particular indignation at Willkie's discussion of the problems of Finland, Poland and the Baltic countries.

Warning Willkie to stop playing politics with Russian problems, Zaslavsky wrote:

"It is time to understand that the Baltic problem is an internal affair of the Soviet Union in which Mr. Willkie must not meddle."

"Whoever is interested in such questions had better familiarize himself with the Soviet constitution—and the fact that a democratic plebiscite once was carried out in the Baltic republics, and let him remember that we are able effectively to defend our constitution."

"Apropos of Finland and Poland, do not mention the Balkan states, the Soviet Union can make the necessary agreements with those countries and does not need Mr. Willkie's help."

English Villagers Suffer Casualties

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Many Londoners were awakened early today by anti-aircraft fire when a few German planes penetrated inland over England. At least two were shot down.

Bombs preceded by flares were dropped over the Metropolitan area and the home counties. In one southeast coast district a fleeing raid apparently jettisoned its cargo.

Damage and casualties were light.

A boy of four was killed and his brother, aged six, and a 14-year-old girl were injured when bombs wrecked four semi-detached houses in a home-counties village. The bodies of two babies were also dug from the ruins of the cottages which collapsed on their occupants. An elderly shepherd and two women were also killed and persons all over the village were treated

"Ball of Fire" Unit Has No Peer Canadians Fight in 8th Army Line With Famous New Zealand Warriors

By ROSS MUNRO
LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—In the Moro river battle in Italy Canadian troops have fought in the 8th Army line with an Empire formation that has no superior—the 2nd New Zealand division.

Prime Minister Churchill once called this division a "ball of fire." The respect and admiration which central Mediterranean forces hold for the New Zealanders is well founded. They fought in Greece and Crete, went through the desert wars from defeat to final victory in Tunisia. And now they are in Italy.

The big name associated with the 2nd New Zealand division is that of Lt. Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, who won the Victoria Cross on the Somme in the First World War. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order with two Bars and mentioned six times in dispatches. He is the division's commander who has led the formation through-out its fighting.

FAMOUS DESERT GROUP

The division came early to this war and in early winter, 1940, the first echelon of troops arrived in Egypt. When Italy declared war in June, 1940, the New Zealanders formed the famed long range desert group and harried Italian outposts and communications in the desert.

By March, 1941, a full division was in the Middle East, drawn from New Zealand's small population of 1,641,000 despite numerous other war commitments.

The division was sent to Greece in fulfillment of Britain's pledge and at Olympus, Thermopylae and Marathon the New Zealanders fought some of the bitterest rearguard actions of this war. They fought and worked their guns under constant air attack with practically no air protection.

DUG IN ON CRETE

Two brigades from this division dug in on Crete after the fall of Greece and on May 20, 1941, the German airborne attack began. For 12 days the New Zealanders fought with meagre equipment and inadequate supplies against the German air and the German troops. They destroyed the bulk of the Nazi 7th Flying Division but finally had to evacuate.

The enemy airborne force was so badly mauled that Hitler had to cancel his orders for it to move on into Syria and Iraq.

Back in Egypt, the New Zealanders had little rest. In November, 1941, the "Crusader" offensive was mounted to relieve Tobruk and the New Zealand Division had a terrible fight at Sidi Rezegh after British and South African troops had been defeated on the ridge by German tanks.

The New Zealanders came up, cut a corridor through to relieve Tobruk and Rommel turned on the division. Two New Zealand brigades fought the 15th and 21st Panzers throughout the closing days of November. The Germans finally won the Sidi Rezegh ridge but victory was so costly they withdrew and Tobruk was liberated.

IN ACTION AGAIN
In the summer of 1942 the New Zealanders were in action again. On June 13, Rommel wiped out British tank strength in the desert, raced on to take Tobruk and advance on Egypt. The New Zealanders were in Syria at that time and were rushed by truck 1,200 miles across Palestine and the Sinai desert in 10 days to the western desert battle line.

South of Matruh, the division alone covered the 8th Army withdrawal to El Alamein. In one day Rommel attacked five times to break the New Zealand formation. Gen. Freyberg was wounded. The division was surrounded. Then at night the division cut itself out at bayonet point and went back to El Alamein.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery took over the 8th Army and the great attack was prepared. The New Zealanders had a leading role, linked with two British armored divisions in the crack 10th Corps which Mr. Churchill termed "this thunderbolt," and they made the breach in the German defences through which the tanks cleared the mine fields and got at the enemy.

BROKE MARETH LINE
From El Alamein the division advanced with the 8th Army. Several outflanking movements were carried out and when the frontal assault on the Mareth line faltered, the division swept around to the south and west on another "left hook" which broke the Mareth line. On the crags behind Enfidaville, south of Tunis, the New Zealanders added to their fame with the Maori battalion carrying out gallant assaults.

Finally near Tunis on May 13, 1943, in the closing drama of the African campaign the German 90th light division, the 164th division and the 20th Italian corps surrendered to the New Zealanders.

Awards Total $384,000 For New Soviet Hymn

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The new hymn of the Soviet Union has become almost overnight one of the highest-priced pieces of music in the world. The Council of People's Commissars has come forward with awards which total almost 2,000,000 rubles (approximately $384,000) to those who participated in a competition to get a new song to replace the outmoded "Internationale."

Sergei Mikhaikovich and E. L. Registan, who wrote the words, have been given 100,000 rubles each, while the composer of the music, A. V. Alexandrov, received a like amount.

At the legal rate of 5.2 rubles to the dollar, the three men received almost $200,000 apiece for their efforts. All the poets and musicians who took part in the competition—there were about 165 musicians and 40 poets—automatically received 4,000 rubles each.

Dmitry Shostakovich, Russian composer, was one of those who lent a hand in some of the orchestrations. It was not stated what he received.

Factory Workers Warned by Cripps Of Over-Optimism

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Workers at a greater London factory were warned against over-optimism yesterday by Sir Stafford Cripps, minister of aircraft production, who told them this year would be "by far the most difficult year both on the fighting front and the factory front at home."

"It is perfectly true that the position of the United Nations is very much better than it ever was in the whole course of the war but we must always remember that a wild beast is never so dangerous as when he has been wounded," he said. "Undoubtedly the Nazis have been very seriously wounded and the danger of desperation comes from that state of affairs."

Plan Conferences On West Indies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Creation of a system of West Indian conferences to give the dependent peoples of British and American islands in the Caribbean a voice in deciding their social and economic future was announced yesterday by the Anglo-American Caribbean commission.

It may serve as a model for other regional agencies expected to be set up in the post-war period. The British colonial office is known to be deeply interested in its successful development.

The regional conference is an advisory body to be composed of both official and unofficial representatives and to make recommendations for commission action. The official members, in general, will speak for the British and American governments in the islands, and the unofficial members will represent the island peoples.

Claim Accused Slayer of Girl Acted Strange

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Albert V. Westgate, 45-year-old mechanic, charged with the murder of a 16-year-old waitress here, was in a downtown restaurant at 5 a.m. Dec. 5 in a "high state of nerves," witnesses testified yesterday at his preliminary hearing in city police court.

"He kept going from stool to stool mumbling and muttering. 'I should have been shot long ago,' Miss Angeline Rogers, a waitress, told the court. 'He asked me to phone the police.'"

Westgate was arrested Dec. 5 after the body of Grace Edith Cook was found in a downtown hotel room. Police said she had been strangled Dec. 4.

WAS VERY NERVOUS
Another waitress, Anne Esterby, corroborated Miss Rogers' evidence saying, "He was very nervous."

Both had identified Westgate in a police line-up as "the man in our restaurant."

James Lyons testified he was in the restaurant and saw a man "acting strange," but he could not identify the man as Westgate.

"He had his elbows on the counter with his head in his hands, and kept saying, 'I shouldn't have done it,' Lyons said. 'I couldn't get a good look at him.'"

The hearing was adjourned to Dec. 11 at the request of Sir Charles Tupper, defence counsel, who asked time to review the evidence and exhibits submitted in court.

SERVED LONG TERM

Westgate was released from Stony Mountain penitentiary last June where he had served 14 years of a life sentence for the murder of a Winnipeg woman in 1928. He had been sentenced to hang, but was reprieved two days before the date of execution.

At the hearing yesterday, a witness said Westgate had told her he had planned to send Miss Cook "to his folks" in Vancouver.

R. J. Law, national selective service officer, said Westgate had applied for permission to move to Vancouver, but had been refused.

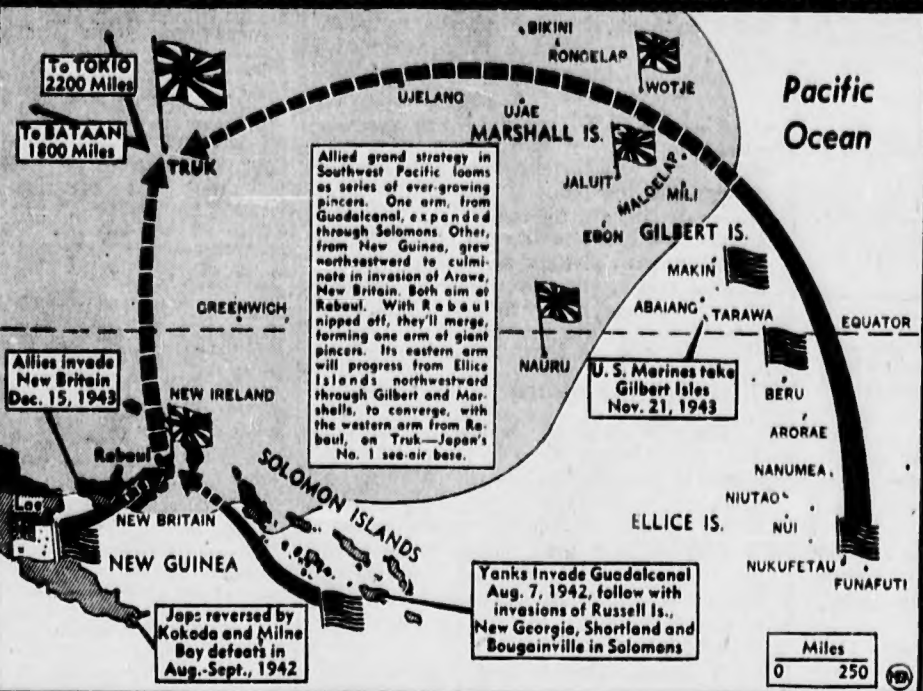

"He told me he wanted to make his home in Vancouver, that his wife was already there," Mr. Law said.

Ten Jap Fighters Downed as Planes Hit Marshall Isles

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Ten and possibly 17 Japanese fighters were shot down over Wake and Maloelap Atolls Sunday in the heaviest opposition ever encountered by United States bombers over the Marshall Islands.

Sixty Japanese fighters rose to meet the heavy bombers from the U.S. 7th Air Force when they attacked airfields at Wake and at Tarao on Maloelap. Simultaneously medium army bombers struck at Jaluit, another powerfully fortified Atoll in the group.

Edmonton Flier Crew Has "Excitement" As "D for Donald" Hit

WITH THE R.C.A.F. OVERSEAS, Jan. 5.—(CP)—A German incendiary cannon-shell created plenty of excitement among the crew of "D for Donald" while the City of Vancouver Squadron's bomber was returning from a recent raid on Berlin.

The shell smashed through a fuse box; arched off the parachute-barrage fitting of the bomb-aimer, W.O. Gordon Schneider of Edmonton; whizzed past the ear of the pilot, F.O. B. A. McLennan of Whitecourt, B.C., and thumped down on the navigator's table in front of F.O. W. S. (Shep) Sheppard of Kerrobert, Sask., where it burst into flame, destroying some navigation maps.

No one was injured, an R.C.A.F. press release said yesterday. F.O. McLennan threw the Lancaster into such violent evasive action that he not only lost the German fighter but caused his gunners to complain they couldn't get a shot at the enemy.

As "D for Donald" neared base, F.O. McLennan found the hydraulic landing gear had been damaged and one of the tires punctured. After lowering the gear by hand he landed on one wheel without further damage to the aircraft.

Canada's External Trade Shows Gain

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Canada's external trade, exclusive of gold, for the first 11 months of 1943 showed an increase of $263,885,000 as compared with the entire year 1942, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported last night.

For the 11 months ended Nov. 30, 1943, the total was $4,293,593,000, while for the corresponding period of 1942 it was $3,620,899,000.

Domestic commodity exports were $2,668,504,000 compared with $2,094,597,000 in the first 11 months of 1942 and $3,035,131,000 more than the full year 1942, commodity imports amounted to $1,600,204,816, compared with $1,506,672,539 in the first 11 months of 1942.

Commodity exports to the United States were valued at $1,019,000,000, exceeding the similar total for 1942 by $276,700,000. Imports from that country rose to $1,312,200,000 from $1,190,900,000. Exports to the United Kingdom totalled $943,200,000 compared with $689,000,000 in 1942 and imports of $1,264,400,000 compared with $152,100,000.

Long Stalemate Appears Likely Montreal Strike

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(CP)—The first day of "total strike" by 2,000 civic white collar workers ended here with the prospect of a prolonged stalemate as essential city services employees remained away from their work.

Both city authorities and workers' representatives said that "it was up to the Quebec Municipal Commission, controlling the city's finances, and the provincial government, to find a solution to the dispute."

Gerard Picard, general secretary of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, parent body of the Civic Employees National Syndicate, said: "We are ready to stick by our guns even if the strike should last six months."

The awards range from a Knight Grand Cross of the Bath (G.C.B.) to Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander-in-chief of the home fleet, to Distinguished Service Medals for two able seamen. Admiral Fraser directed the action against the Scharnhorst from the flagship H.M.S. Duke of York.

Vice-Admiral R. L. Burnett, commander of the cruiser force which twice prevented the Scharnhorst reaching a Russia-bound convoy, was knighted, being appointed a Knight Commander of the Order of the British Empire (K.B.E.).

Capt. Charles Clarke, commander of H.M.S. Glasgow which figured with the Enterprise in the successful action that sank three of 11 Nazi destroyers and routed the others, also received the D.S.O.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A $195,588 tax refund to the Duke of Roxburgh, of Kelso, Scotland, was announced yesterday by the United States treasury. Australia Has Many Problems Of Government

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 5.—(CP)—Controversy between state and federal governments in Australia is "much more acrimonious" than federal-provincial disputes in Canada, Arthur R. Ford, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press and president of The Canadian Press, said today in a review of his recent trip to Australia and New Zealand.

The six states never surrendered their sovereign powers while before the war Western Australia agitated for secession, even sending a petition to England in an effort to attain independence. Mr. Ford said in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian club of London.

PROBLEMS IGNORED

"Western Australia felt that the Commonwealth was dominated by the two rich and populous states of New South Wales and Victoria, which correspond to Ontario and Quebec, and that their particular problems were being ignored," he said.

"Then each state has its own railway and there are four different gauges. To travel between Sydney and Melbourne, which is only about 100 miles more than between Toronto and Montreal, one has to get up early in the morning at the state line to transfer from one train to another. All freight has to be unloaded from one train to another. It is an absurd situation, but it shows how strong are the state rights."

"The war is changing this situation. To carry on a war successfully there has to be a strong central government and whether the states like it or not power is being centralized at Canberra. The secession movement in West Australia today is dead because West Australia had to look to the Commonwealth for defence of its coasts, and there is a growing realization that Australia must look at problems from the viewpoint of the nation as a whole and not from the state."

Injurious Chatter

There is too much loose gossip about our Canadian public men. There is too much injurious chatter about the reason General McNaughton is retiring, about his alleged tiffs with General Montgomery, about his supposed clashes with Colonel Ralston, about the latter's feud with Prime Minister King, and about the thousand and one rumors of shifts and changes and firing and hiring that emanate, like steam, from any national capital and particularly from a national capital at war.

There is absolutely no evidence, anywhere, that General McNaughton's retirement is precipitated by anything but ill-health. There is absolutely no evidence that any shifts are contemplated in Ottawa that will not work out to the best public interest. There is absolutely no evidence of failure, confusion or disagreement—all implied in the ill-natured gossip of the day.

Such foolish talk contributes nothing to the war effort. It is playing Hitler's game.

A New Northern Road

Trucks are now rolling from Whitehorse to Norman Wells over the newly constructed tote road of more than 600 miles. The immediate purpose of the road is to service the pipe line and feed supplies to the men employed in the oil field, and no doubt it falls short in several respects of the requirements of a first class motor highway.

But once a road is opened it can be improved, and if General Somervell is measurably correct in his opinion of the value of the new field, the tote road is certain to be bettered as time permits and traffic grows. There are other interests as well in the area, some already existing and others clearly in prospect, which can be served by road vehicles to advantage.

The opening of the road can be regarded therefore as another step toward the development of the oil and other resources in that section of the down north territory and the opening of the country to exploration, industry and trade.

Cancelling the Unpayable

When a debt cannot be paid, it is better for all concerned that the item be written off and forgotten.

There is justification for the action of the provincial Government in writing off unpaid loans which were made to farmers in the shape of advances for seed and feed in the years from 1931 to 1935. On the average, ten years have elapsed since these loans were made. Since they could not be repaid in so long a period, their eventual collection is at best a matter of strong doubt. Apparently the officials who are in position to know have come to the conclusion that there is no use continuing to class these loans as bills receivable.

The amount involved runs to $831,000, further proof that the province was not niggardly in extending help in the depressed years. That more than 10,000 farmers are on the list indicates the handicap that drought has been for many years in considerable sections of the province, and is a practical argument for the carrying on of rehabilitation policies where conditions make this possible.

The Listener Comes First

A Montreal newspaper inferentially censures the C.B.C. for having, as it says, "interposed in the conflict between the Quebec Government and Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company, with the effect of hobbling the freedom of the company to present over the radio counter arguments against the Government's announced plan to expropriate the company's electric properties and operate them as a publicly-owned enterprise."

The offence of the C.B.C. is stated to be that because of a ruling by a C.B.C. official the company has been "forced to change the form and content of a company-sponsored program." In other words, was not allowed to say over the Corporation's system what it wanted to say in the way it wanted to say it. There is no suggestion that the company cannot tell its troubles in its own way over privately-owned stations or hook-ups.

There is no indication that objection to this ruling comes from radio listeners. Certainly it would not come from the Quebec Government. The company, being the only other party concerned, must be doing the objecting, unless the Gazette is playing a lone hand.

The implication of this protest is that any person or company who wants to should be allowed to buy C.B.C. time and use it as he or it may please. This sort of impertinence has become so common as to obscure the original purpose and function of the C.B.C. This publicly-owned system was not created to carry advertising matter—business or political—but to supply the buyers of radio licenses with programs of entertainment or instructional character.

The person who owns a radio set and has bought a license to listen in is the party due for first consideration at the hands of the C.B.C. directors. For financial reasons, and financial reasons only, sponsored programs have been and are permitted to be broadcast. But that is a distinct concession to revenue requirements, and it involves a distinct departure from the conception on which the C.B.C. is founded.

When the C.B.C. was instituted the plans were that it should be patterned on the B.B.C., on which no advertising programs are permitted and which is admittedly the best radio system in the world.

It will be a welcome day to radio listeners when the C.B.C. can get along without advertising revenue and devote itself exclusively to the purpose for which it was brought into existence. Meanwhile, for any person, or concern to claim a right to demand the services of the C.B.C.—whether for business or political advertising—is to assert a right to deprive the radio listener of entertainment or instruction that he has already bought and paid for.

The Irrepressible Colonel

There is no profit in debating with a fool; nevertheless every so often the irrepressible Colonel McCormick becomes so egregious in his folly that a reply is necessary to keep the record straight.

For instance, his Chicago Tribune, in its Tuesday edition, accuses the British Empire of defaulting in its war effort and of laying the major load on the shoulders of American troops.

It attacks Canada and Australia for marshalling fewer servicemen, per capita, than the United States. It viciously criticizes the proportions of 73 per cent American and 27 per cent British to be used in the western invasion.

It is not true that the United States has more men in the services, per capita, than Canada or Australia. Admittedly, the American system of universal service is more logical and more democratic than service by enlistment. But our enlistment system and the system of Australia have saturated, to all intents and purposes, the capacities of our services.

The relative numbers of British troops and American troops to be used in the western invasion were not based on the populations of any countries. They were carefully calculated according to the availability of fighting manpower.

One may say, not as a reproach, but as a fact, that British and Australians and Canadians were being killed in Europe and in other theatres many months before a single American life was expended in battle.

These flagrant lies are deliberately calculated to stir up dissension between the United Nations, and injure the war effort. They afford comfort and succor to the enemy.

It is amazing how Colonel McCormick manages to stay out of jail.

Labor Alienating Public Sympathy Through Strikes

Members of Armed Forces Impatient With Tactics Used

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Without going into the details of the steel and railroad disputes, which are threatening strikes, one may comment upon developments which, in the long run, are likely to work out badly for labor.

It is impossible for any group of war workers to claim that they are badly off at this moment. One merely has to observe American life at this holiday season. Never has there been such buying. The department stores from one end of the country to the other are practically sold out.

Dorothy Thompson

One cannot attribute this to inflation, for inflation is not an increase of sold goods, but an increase in prices. The buying is in all quarters, but what counts in bulk and turnover is never the rich but the masses of the people. If depressions occur not because of the poverty of the rich but because of lack of purchasing power by the workers, the reverse is also true—buying booms are caused by workers' prosperity.

As one who wishes to see a high standard of living maintained and improved by workers over the next decades, one may question whether they are not now preparing their own undoing. For there is a growing anti-labor sentiment among the men in the fighting forces. A high percentage of these are workers, but their conviction is that they themselves have broken with the bargaining tradition for the duration. For those of them who have gone through the terrible campaigns in the South Pacific, North Africa, Sicily and Italy, America is a paradise, in comparison with their own way of life, and in comparison with the standard of living of all the people they see around them—and this is true whether they are fighting in Italy or stationed in Britain.

A long letter that came to my hand recently from Italy, written by a C.I.O. member in good standing, is not at all untypical. He says, "all of us here were mad enough about John L. Lewis and the coal strikes, even though recognizing that miners have, in the past, been underpaid and engaged in hard and dangerous work. But the currently threatened railroad transportation strike is the last straw. Is it proposed that we fight the war without food and ammunition? The railroads, we read, are desperately unhappy about their 84 cents an hour. Why? Because shipworkers get $1.28? Will they get mad next because a surgeon earns more than 84 cents to perform an hour's operation?"

"They are also plagued by 'long hours' and 'sub-standard living conditions.' Our hearts bleed for them. However, since all strikers apparently get whatever they want, we, as an unofficial soldiers' union, submit the following contract:

"$1.28 an hour for a 48-hour week. Time and half overtime. We submit that besides the occupational diseases of soldiers, such as death, maiming, shock, insanity, and chronic malaria, we have outrageous hours, on call 24 hours a day, never knowing in advance what is free time, war at night and in foul weather, and in combat, lucky to get three or four hours sleep a night.

"Sub-standard living conditions? 'Irregular meals, better than in earlier wars but incredibly restricted and monotonous; sleep in zero temperatures on the ground, no joke for our rheumatic 37 or 38-year-old soldiers; treated hastily in overcrowded hospitals, so that men with bad teeth or broken glasses often go months without relief; subjected to unbroken disciplines, etc., ad infinitum.

"We cannot go on strike to enforce the above contract. If we do how would they feel at home? Nor do we object to any of the above conditions, which are natural to war. We are much better off than millions of Russians, Chinese and Britishers. But we feel violently that if we can endure these things, at compared with workers at home, such very low pay, then certainly workers with roofs over their heads, their families near them and safe, can struggle along on eighty-four cents an hour. If wages are raised here and there, at no friction, a strike anywhere, should any worker consider quitting his job. Let the government decide if labor complaints are just and enforce wage adjustments if it seems fit, just as our officers try to adjust reasonable complaints by the men. The army includes countless union members, wholly pro-labor before the war. Those men are now mad as hell; estranged from their old companions. Does labor want these men to join the legionnaires, the reactionaries, and worst of all the militant fascists when they return? The danger is great. Labor leaders by their opportunism are setting the course of labor in America back fifty years."

I publish this letter exactly as it was received by me in a sequence of notes from a personally known correspondent.

Production Increased Hugely in Australia

Allied Works Council Is Doing Great Job With Labor

By B. T. RICHARDSON

MELBOURNE, Aus.—The Civil Constructional corps, operating under the Australian Allied works council, represents a degree of labor mobilization through compulsion that can scarcely be equalled in the democratic countries.

The council has stepped up its program of military construction to $300,000,000, of which $200,000,000 in value has been completed. It spends about $3,500,000 a week. It transacts its business in the bulk purchase system and a proportion of its expenditures, made on behalf of American forces, represents reciprocal lend-lease.

At present the Civil Constructional corps employs nearly 55,000 men. Its payroll is about $75,000,000 annually and its average wage paid is 18-0-8, eight pence and eight farthings, about $37 weekly.

The first man enrolled was Walter Jell, Melbourne. He joined 15 days after the Civil Constructional corps was formed on April 14, 1942. Initially the corps was open to men who volunteered and were accepted for work. Since May 4, 1942, men have been called up for this work, being directed to report for examination. Many men, however, are members of the corps on a voluntary basis, having transferred from construction works previously under way, or having joined voluntarily.

Runs Own School

The corps has deputy directors of personnel and enrolment bureaux in Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland and Western Australia. The deputy directors keep the Allied works council informed regarding manpower and construction facilities available in their states. The corps runs its own school for truck drivers and maintenance men to look after equipment.

Each enrolment bureau has a medical unit to examine men who volunteer or are directed to enrol by the manpower control offices. Each man is classified according to his industrial capacity and physical standard. Each man accepted receives a knife, fork, three plates, a mug, and if he is sent to northern areas, a mosquito net and water bottle. They get, free of charge, tents, camp beds, and the corps supplies camp amenities such as radios, books, games, and sporting equipment. If clinical examination indicates it is necessary, or if a man is going north, he receives an X-ray examination. Men going north of the tropic of Capricorn are immunized for typhoid and tetanus. They are insured against accidents.

There has been some trouble with organized labor, but in view of the scope of work, relatively little friction has occurred. In September, 1942, with a crew building a hospital for the U.S. army. The men had joined a building workers' union and struck for union wages. When they discovered they were not entitled to anything more than corps wages, they went back to work. Summonses that had been issued against them were dropped. In another case, 37 truck drivers and laborers went on strike, were prosecuted and each fined $20. Stoppages of work have occurred in a few other cases, chiefly a result of union organizers seeking to unionize the corps workers. Under the law, however, the regulations of the Civil Constructional corps have the authority of federal war emergency powers.

In detail, the call-up of men proceeds through the federal manpower directorate. This directorate maintains a civilian registration which lists all available men up to 60 years of age. When a call comes for manpower, the directorate furnishes a list of suitable tradesmen. If a special class or type is required, Direction-10 serve notices require a man to report to the Civil Constructional corps enrolment bureau. All travel is provided by the corps taking a man from point of enrolment to the project where he will work. Officials of the corps report that men employed have worked efficiently and without friction, though this is something new to organized labor in Australia. The records show men from 18 to 60 years are employed. The latest categories and numbers are:

|-------------------|---------|
| 16-17 years | 69 |
| 18-34 unmarried | 6,838 |
| 35-44 unmarried | 3,338 |
| 18-34 married | 8,874 |
| 35-44 married | 12,815 |
| 45-59 | 18,949 |
| 60 years and over | 2,635 |
| | $3,518 |

These categories are based on Australia's civilian registry. The classification of trades represented number more than 25. The exceptions to call-ups are men employed in protected industries (though the director of manpower may call men from these industries if the emergency required it), members of the armed forces serving full time, members of British dominion and Allied forces, and diplomatic, consular and trade representatives.

Medical categories range from men fit to work anywhere to fit for light work only. Men on C.C.C. projects in the Northern Territory looked bronzed and fit. Like most Australians they are lean and rangy. They work in the sun without shirts and soon work off the stiffness in their muscles if they are not used to outdoor labor. They work right up in the forward areas that are under military control, but have their own camps. The number of discharges has been 12,756 to a recent date, more than half for medical reasons. Those discharged because of unsuitable, misconduct and other reasons have been only 2,834.

Cornish Pasties Are Famous

Savory Filling of Meat, Potatoes and Gravy Nourishes

By MARY ALICE QUAYNE

There has always been something romantic about a pie. Pies go far back into the ancient days, when the principal dining utensil was the knife which each man carried on his person and used it for a variety of jobs.

In those early days somebody invented pies, which were flat bits of dough between which mixtures of various kinds were placed. The dough was folded over and sealed shut and the pie was baked.

The hungry mortal could pick up this comestible, either hot or cold, and start right in without more ado to enjoy a meal of meat and gravy and vegetables, all wrapped up in a neat and well-baked bundle. It was but a step from meat and vegetables to fillings of fruits and nuts.

In time, especially here in Canada, the fruit pies excelled the number of meat pies, though both are popular. Minicemeat is a favorite combination. In South America, the little pie is known as an empanada, and each country, in fact, almost each town, has its own special favorite.

Real Pasties

England is the motherland of the Canadian pies, with the possible exception of pumpkin, which is American but it is found in a certain part of England, Cornwall, to be exact. It is in Cornwall that the most famous of all pies originated. That is the Cornish pasty.

In modern language, the Cornish pasty is really a turnover, a meat and potato turnover with gravy included.

Many so-called Cornish pasties, some even made with left-over meat and vegetables are very good to eat, but by no means real Cornish pasties. In Mrs. Beeton's great book of English recipes, here is the way it is made:

First the ingredients for the pastry: 8 ounces flour, 3 ounces fat,

1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 salt-spoon of salt.

For the filling mixture: One-quarter pound of beef, one-quarter pound potato (parboiled), one-half teaspoon of onion (parboiled and chopped), two tablespoons of gravy or water, mixed herbs, salt and pepper to taste.

Cut the meat and potatoes into dice, add the onion, herbs, salt, pepper and gravy, and mix well together.

Mix the flour, baking powder and salt together, rub in the fat lightly, add the water, being careful not to make the paste too moist. Divide the paste into eight equal portions, and roll them out, keeping the portions as round as possible.

Pile the mixture into the centre of each piece of paste, wet the edges and join them together on the top to form an upstanding frill, prick them two or three times with a fork, and bake in a moderate oven for about 30 minutes.

This is the true Cornish pasty, but there is no harm to be done in trying other mixtures. However, be sure to call it anything but a Cornish pasty.

Minicemeat, not too dry, makes a good filling. So do slices of apples folded in, dotted first with butter, sugar and a dash of cinnamon.

South American Fillings

It takes the South American to invent fillings of shrimp, oyster, bits of chicken, squash, beef, game, and so on.

Chopped onion, minced garlic, capers, parsley, chopped olives, chopped hard-boiled egg, chopped tomato or tomato sauce, sweet peppers, hot peppers, what ever seems to appeal to the South American cook goes into the filling.

The pasty dough varies from section to section, but the principle is all the same. The results are browned tidbits served right from the oven or served cold, tidbits full of surprises.

One important point to remember is that there must be some sort of gravy or sauce to start the contents off nice and moist, lest they dry out too much in the baking. But as a way to use up left-overs, these turn-overs are very much ahead of hash and stew.

In a lunch box they are perfectly at home and carry safely and well to their journey's end, regardless of what they contain, meats and gravy, or fruits and nuts.

Air Service Still Efficient

Few Civilians Travelling But Schedules Are All Maintained

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

SAN FRANCISCO—Whatever the war has done it has not slowed down air travel. I was just 17 hours getting here from Washington, and we arrived 80 minutes ahead of schedule. People do it every day, yet it is still to me an exciting and marvelous thing that space and time can be reduced to such size, even though it is a question whether the time so saved is put to any purpose sufficiently useful to justify the saving.

Anyway, I left Washington after a full day's work and was at the Bohemian Club here making telephone calls before 10 the next morning.

The airlines have tried to keep up their old standards in spite of the war. They still have pretty thorough skippering up and down the aisles, putting pillows under the heads of weary passengers and tucking blankets around them. Our stewardess said she would become an army nurse next month and work on airplanes evacuating wounded soldiers. Graduate nurses are leaving the airlines to go into air-convalescent nursing, and college girls are taking their places.

Sleeper planes have disappeared for the duration, but the girls still pass the chewing gum. You don't get cigarettes any more with your meals, but the meals are up to pre-war standards. The stewardess even hands around a fancy printed dinner menu to make the passenger's mouth water while he waits for his food. But they couldn't match the breakfast I had at the Chicago airport restaurant. The waitress said they had those thick, juicy steaks every day except on the two meatless days a week. What's the Chicago Tribune complaining about anyway

Journey Among Warriors

General Confusion Behind Battle Lines Forces Houghton to Order Return; German Tanks Near Camp

Chapter III.
By EVE CURIE

We had left, now, the Mussolini Wire and were wandering in complete wilderness, looking in vain for the advanced air base to which Houghton, our conducting officer, wanted to get. We had had no lunch, and we had given away our tinned salmon. We crunched a few army biscuits—and I produced Randolph Churchill's whiskey flask. The army biscuits were exactly like the expensive products that American women eat to replace bread when they go on a reducing diet.

I could see that Houghton was not pleased—and I could easily guess why. The general picture did not look encouraging. Every group of men that we met, with or without trucks or cars, had the same story to tell as the Irishman with the red beard. It amounted to: "There was a battle of tanks. The Germans crashed through our formations. We got lost." Then, invariably, the men asked us how they could return to their unit. Surely, we did not know that we did not know their own way.

We were moving against the stream. Scattered groups of lorries were obviously evacuating equipment and men in a hurry. One officer, of whom we asked our way, had the strange idea of jumping out of his army car and aiming his revolver straight at us. He said that, before exchanging information, we must exchange identification cards which we did. The short scene had made us laugh by its abruptness, but, fundamentally, the precaution the officer wanted to take was a reasonable one. In the desert it could never be assumed that a British car carried Englishmen or a German truck Germans—for trucks, tanks, cars were captured, lost recaptured, and passed from hand to hand. This, again, was part of the general word "confusion."

BASE EVACUATED

We bumped into a concentration of South Africans, met hospital trucks and R.A.F. trucks, all going south. We then realized that the air base we were looking for had been evacuated. This definitely shook Houghton's desire of moving forward. When we caught sight of volumes of smoke in the distance (probably coming from supplies of petrol which had just been bombed), he ordered the chauffeur to turn around and return to Maddalena, without listening to what I or the other correspondents had to say. It was the first time he found himself responsible for a woman in the desert, and he did not want to take chances "on a day like this."

At sunset we came across a small group of soldiers assembled around the Hurricane of an R.A.F. flier who had made a forced landing. We heard, once more, the same story: "I was doing some ground strafing. I got lost. Where am I, anyway?" The foreign accent of the flier seemed familiar to me. I asked him, in Polish, what his nationality was. Indeed, he was a Pole. I never saw a man so dumbfounded, first to find a woman in the desert, secondly to hear the woman addressing him in Polish, and thirdly to learn that I was Marie Sklodowska Curie's daughter. He said to me: "Oh, but I read your book when I was in Bagdad—yes in a Russian translation." I had never heard of a Russian translation of my mother's biography but I did not go deeper into the subject.

A surprise awaited us at the camp: everything had been packed up in our absence. An official warning had come, to the effect that we must keep ready to leave at a half-hour's notice. Motive: a column of German and Italian tanks had broken loose in our direction. The tanks had been spotted as they crossed the Wire, and they were now moving steadily toward us. Naturally, they were still quite far away.

It had been arranged in the morning that I should go and see Air Vice-Marshal Sir Arthur Coningham, the commander of the R.A.F. in the western desert. I asked if the appointment had been cancelled, vaguely assuming that all schedules were upset. No, it hadn't. We drove with Randolph Churchill to the air vice-marshal's truck, which was draped in camouflage nets. A slim, dark-haired officer told us to come in. It was Coningham, who at 46 looked as young as one of his pilots. He was wearing a woolen sweater and no tunic. He had a charming, lean, animated face. He didn't seem in the least disturbed at the idea of the loose German column of tanks and insisted on having me admire his "home," which, in fact, was the essence of comfort: there was a red settee, a desk, a bar.

STANDARDIZE PLANES

While the air vice-marshal was mixing drinks we spoke, not of the strategic situation in Libya, but of the United States, whence I had come. Coningham was anxious to see the Americans take more and more in hand the ferrying of war planes across Africa, in non-belligerent areas. He spoke of the advantage of standardizing the planes sent to the Middle East and of the necessity of transporting them very rapidly. He said: "There is no worry about the quality of American aircraft, which is first-class. What we need is speed and quantity—quantity in production, speed both in the production and in the ferrying to the battlefields. Remember this, which is our prompt disappearance must have been what the commander-in-chief most wanted, for his unannounced visit to the air vice-marshal had a serious motive. General Auchinleck had decided, that very night, to relieve the commander of the Eighth Army, his close friend, Lieutenant General Alan Cunningham, and to replace him by Lieutenant General Neil M. Ritchie, whom he was also to relieve a few months later, at the time of Rommel's great push into Egypt—before being, to everybody's surprise, relieved of his own command by Winston Churchill. Auchinleck had come to see Air Vice-Marshal Coningham (what a mixture of similar names!) in order to announce to him Ritchie's appointment.

MOVED AWAY

The next morning, after breakfast, we gathered eagerly around the cellophane-covered map, to hear the news. Apparently, "our" same presence had rendered Randolph Churchill, for once, absolutely mute and motionless, which will appear as a remarkable result to anybody who knows the turbulent son of the Prime Minister.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

The silent officer was no other than the commander-in-chief in the Middle East, General Sir Claude John Elie Auchinleck. He had slipped inside the air vice-marshal's truck a few minutes earlier. When Coningham introduced us, he did not waste time to ask why I was there. He slipped his drink quietly and listened—or perhaps did not listen—to our conversation. I think that he was patiently waiting for me to go, so that he could have a serious talk with the air vice-marshal.

The general was not worried over the danger from the German tanks for he said calmly: "He (meaning the enemy) is making a desperate effort, but he will not get very far. That column of tanks cannot get supplies. I am sure of this."

The way he said, "I am sure of this" gave me, suddenly, a great tranquility. If the commander in chief made light of the thirty or fifty Axis tanks rolling toward us, why should I worry? Who was I to worry? The rest of the conversation was banal, and I soon took leave.

I learned later on that my

Canada, 'Given Fair Chance', Can Compete With All Comers In Aviation Field After War

Ralph P. Bell, director-general of the Aircraft Production Branch, Munitions Supply Department, has watched Canada's young aircraft industry grow during the war years until it employs more than 120,000 persons. In this story he gives his views on what should be done to carry the industry safely into the post-war period.—EDITOR.

By RALPH P. BELL

Written For The Canadian Press

Geographically, Canada is the keystone of the arch of aerial transportation between the most important centres of the world. For our population we probably have the greatest background of knowledge and experience in northern flying of any country on the globe.

Relative to our population we will come out of this war with the largest proportion of trained airmen of any of the Allied nations.

Our aircraft industry has conclusively demonstrated that it is capable of building the largest and most complicated types of operational aircraft in the world today.

POSITION LAST

In the days of the Maritime Provinces turned out the fastest sailing clippers in the world. One hundred years ago, in the pioneering days of steam navigation, Canada was in the forefront. But we failed to keep pace and lost our position in international transportation.

Today, Canada again leads the van with the first regular non-stop trans-Atlantic air service from North America to Britain. It is often said that Opportunity never knocks twice. This time she has. This time we must heed.

For the first or eight months of the war nobody in authority ever contemplated that Canada would build anything but a few trainers and perhaps a handful of flying boats, but late in 1941 and early in 1942 long-range plans were adopted.

NINE MODERN TYPES

This program gave Canada nine of the finest modern types of aircraft in the world and definitely established the aircraft industry of this country as one capable of building everything from the smallest to the largest plane that flies.

Today, 14,000,000 square feet of modern factory area hums with the activity of more than 120,000 individuals (36,000 of them women), operating the mass of machine tools and equipment necessary to produce a modern aircraft; and at the door of each of our prime contractors' plant is a modern airport with a hard-surfaced runway and all the necessary facilities for test-flight.

The creation and equipment of such enormous plant facilities and the training of these scores of thousands of employees has been a heavy task. To ensure a permanent future for this nationally important industry two things are necessary.

1. Design staffs capable of competing with any in the world.
2. Manufacturing costs competitive with those of Britain or the United States.

It is highly doubtful if there is hall here. A triple shower was held by the ladies of Federal in honor of Sheila Lind, Lola Easton and Agnes McCrea, all recent brides. David L. Hood of Edmonton spent the holidays here.

EVANSBURG.—A total of $180 was realized by the local branch of the Red Cross when they sponsored the New Year's Eve dance held in the Evansburg hall. Stoker and Mrs. Bob McIlroon who were married recently have left for Prince Rupert. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jenkins of Edmonton visited Mrs. Jenkins' parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy Melvin. Mrs. E. Chisholm, daughter-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Chisholm of Evansburg, returned to Sydney, N.S., after a lengthy visit here. Pte. and Mrs. Ike Grant are visiting relatives in the Park Court district. Mrs. A. Greaves has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McPhee of Evansburg. May and Leah Thorburn spent the holidays with their parents here. Cameron Hood visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hood.

Katie Raybold and Mary Drongal have returned from Toronto where they have been employed in the war industry.

Montgomery Is Again Problem For Nazi Army

steel spring resiliency. No "desk general," he is happiest when scooting along the front line of battle in a tank, dressed in shorts, shirt and tankman's beret, with a revolver strapped to his hip.

CHURCHILL'S PRAISE

Churchill once said: "Let me pay tribute to that vehement and formidable General Montgomery, a Cromwellian figure, austere, sober, accomplished, tireless, his life given to study of war, who has attracted to himself in an unusual measure the confidence and devotion of his army."

What is the secret of this "confidence and devotion"? It cannot be his human qualities because he drives his troops like he drives himself—to the limits of their ability. There are none of the stories that some generals inspire of little unexpected kindly or human traits.

Perhaps it is because he leads them brilliantly and colorfully. Perhaps it is because he wields his talents and his love of warfare like a tempered weapon and leads them to success.

The son of the Ulster-born bishop of Tasmania, this warrior kneels in prayer night and morning and reads the bible every day of his life. He recommends reading of the Bible to all his officers. Like Cromwell and Chinese Gordon, he is a Christian soldier as well as a British officer.

SUPREMACY CONFIDENT

In staff conferences he is a martinet. He is likely to begin with some such statement as this:

"Gentlemen: You may now clear your throat for two minutes. I will then address you for 20 minutes, after which you may have 30 seconds for coughing before I resume. We will have no coughing while I am talking."

He is supremely confident—confident to the point of calling his shots. On the day before he sent his troops against Rommel at El Alamein, Montgomery sat coolly balancing a fly swatter on his index finger in front of his tent.

"During the moonlight tonight," he said, "terrific battle will be fought—terrific. When day breaks tomorrow we shall see how we stand, but there is no doubt of the issue."

NO DEFENCE WITH HIM

A few weeks earlier before taking command of the Eighth Army he toured the front and found workmen digging defence works behind El Alamein.

"What are you doing?" he snapped.

"Digging defence works," one of the men replied.

"Then stop it," he ordered. "You will never need them."

Three weeks later he sent them on the offensive to the skirts of baggages. Montgomery's men have remained on the offensive ever since—across the undulating shore of North Africa, past Rommel's Mareth line, past Tunis, across Sicily and up the Italian boot on the Adriatic side.

Now he comes to his greatest military opportunity, 34 years out of the Royal Military College, known as Sandhurst.

RULED HOUSEHOLD

As a young officer he was known as an enthusiast for rugby and hockey and attached to the perfection of his military learning. His friends were surprised when he married in 1927 at 40. He ruled his household, according to one writer, "like a medieval knight." The advent of a son was handled like a staff problem, with Montgomery issuing daily orders regarding his care, feeding and upbringing.

In War I he won the D.S.O. and Croix de Guerre and was mentioned six times in dispatches. On the death of his wife in 1927 he devoted himself to the art of war making with furious zeal. In December, 1941, he was appointed commanding general of the south eastern command—the portion of England which sits closest to a possible invasion from the continent.

In 1942 he went to Egypt and launched the Eighth Army on its march. On that march he has fought with audacity and science, welding planes, tanks and men. The other day he paused in a sunlit Italian meadow to tell something of what he had learned to Frank Fisher of the British United Press.

MUST FIRST WIN IN AIR

"First you must win the battle of the air," he said. "That must come before you start a single land or sea engagement. . . . It is the first great principle of modern warfare."

The second front leader, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower already has been given the help of Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, who won the battle of the air for Monty in Africa, to clear the skies and carpet-bomb the land defences of Hitler's continental fortress. Soon they will be ready for Monty to lead his men out in another bloody dawn like Alamein—this time aimed straight at Berlin.

Leaves For East

Writer Brian R. Jennings, R.C.N., son of Chief Constable Reginald Jennings and Mrs. Jennings, 11128 63 street, left for his station in Eastern Canada Tuesday night, after spending the last three weeks with his parents here. Mrs. Jennings, Jr., who came to the city with him, is remaining here.

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON.—Some one has pointed out to me that I was a little abrupt in saying that we must make a great effort to keep well. Of course, every one of us wants to keep well, but too few of us consistently keep ourselves in good condition.

I am the last person to suggest that one should be afraid of picking up germs, or of doing anything because one might run into some kind of contagion. I have never found being afraid of anything did one any good. I have always gone on the theory that if one could be useful, one look whatever risks were incurred and was glad of the chance to do whatever needed to be done. One learns to take risks sensibly and takes as many precautions as possible.

Don't get overtired unless you have to. If you do get overtired, take the first chance that comes along to catch up on sleep and rest. Eat and drink sensibly. See that you get your quota of fresh vegetables and fruit, and that you don't eat too much. See that you get a certain amount of fresh air and exercise every day. The rest of the time, work as hard as you like and keep as interested as possible in your work—that is what I mean by making an effort to keep well.

If you are in good condition and become ill, you have something to help you fight the little bugs—some reserve that can be called on if you've kept in good condition. The less we add to the doctors' and nurses' burdens these days, the better it is for the communities in which we live. Remember, however, that if you or anyone in your family runs a temperature, it is better to see a doctor as soon as possible and follow the doctor's directions, otherwise you may have a serious illness instead of a slight one.

We saw "Winged Victory" last night and enjoyed it. It is emotional in spots, particularly these days, when so many people see situations on the stage through which many people they love are passing. I hope it leaves every person in the audience with the thought that the sacrifices are only worth while if we learn something from them and do better in the peace than we did before—otherwise we have no right to waste hundreds of our lives.

The show is well written, acted and produced. I am sure that audiences will increase in magnitude wherever it goes. The house was crowded and enthusiastic last night.

Now we are on our way back to Washington. Two grandchildren, Sara and Kate Roosevelt, are added to those who will be with us for the next few weeks. Over New Year's we shall have seven grandchildren in the house, which is a good way to begin the new year.

McCoy Health Service

As neuritis is capable of causing severe pain, the patient with this disorder is deserving of sympathy. The pain itself is discarded as cutting, boring or stabbing.

In the milder type of case the patient may notice no more than occasional sharp pains in the arms or legs, together with muscle weakness, but in the severe case, the pain may be so agonizing that the patient is unable to think of anything else.

While there have been many theories advanced as to the probable cause of neuritis, I consider that the most important cause is a toxic condition of the body. When the poisons developed from faulty habits of living collect around a nerve or nerves, they set up sufficient irritation to produce the pain seen in neuritis.

The toxins producing neuritis are very similar to those producing rheumatism. If the rheumatic toxins accumulate around a muscle, they induce muscular rheumatism, but if they locate around a nerve, the resulting effect is called neuritis.

Another possible cause of neuritis is an impoverished diet. When the food habitually eaten is not of the right kind, the blood lacks some of the elements needed to nourish the nerves properly. The nerves then become more easily irritated than would be the case if they were normally fed.

Lack of vitamin B1 is another cause of neuritis as this particular part of the vitamin B complex is needed if the nerves are to remain healthy.

Focal infections around the roots of teeth in the tonsils or in the sinuses, may act as contributing causes of neuritis, and with treatment of the focal infection, the neuritis may clear up.

In some cases, the cause of neuritis is coming from the pressure exerted upon certain nerves by spinal subluxations. Arsenic and lead are still other possible causes.

If you have neuritis, the first thing to do is to apply heat as a means of securing temporary relief from the pain. Go into the bath room and get the hot water bottle and fill that up and apply it against the painful part. Or use hot, moist towels, or a small home treatment lamp. The next thing to do is to start on a fruit juice fast, taking orange juice or tomato juice. Use one 8-ounce glass of juice every 2 hours, drinking plenty of water in between. If you start with orange juice in the morning, use it the rest of the day. Take one daily enema while fasting for 4 or 5 days. The fast will cleanse the body of any systemic toxins which have accumulated. Follow the fast with a careful diet. I have seen this method work in many cases. You have everything to gain if it does help you, while if it does not help, all you have lost is the pleasure of eating a few meals.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

DIRECTOR BILL HARRIS should soon know whether his city junior circuit will continue as a five or three-club affair in view of the fact that C.A.H.A. and R.C.A.F. officials are slated to meet in Ottawa today, presumably to discuss the recent Air Force ruling.

At any rate it's a five cylinder proposition today for "M" Depot, fifth team in the loop, is billed to take tea with Canadian Athletic Club at 119 street tonight. The original deadline was set for Jan. 6 and so this game will of course be within the prescribed date limit.

No information has been forthcoming from the Depot as to a probable lineup, but Canadians are expected to be at full strength. Bob Causgrove and Bernie O'Connor will both be working on defence. Arnold Armstrong, fourth South Side juvenile to join the team this season and who has been ill, may also turn out. Harold Payne, reported recovered from his ankle injury, will likely perform at right wing again along with Ken Cox and Jim Fleming on one line.

MIDGETS CAN TAKE IT!

But apparently sports reporters are about the only optimists out looking for such events when the pretty red liquid in thermometers is crowding the 12 below mark. Yes, the rink was there alright—but no players. A guard ventured he had heard the game had been postponed during the afternoon, but wasn't sure. Well, anyway that looks like one in the schedule duly covered.

Boston Beats Chicago 6-4 Bill Cowley's Total of 258 New All-Time Assist Record

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Boston Bruins arrived at the half-way point of the National Hockey League's 50-game season by outscoring the Chicago Black Hawks 6-4 Tuesday night before a crowd of 10,000 at the Boston Garden.

Bill Cowley, veteran Boston centre, collected two assists to run up his league-leading total to 52 points. When the game started Cowley's all-time assist total was 256, which equaled the National Hockey League record made by Frankie Boucher during his 12 seasons with the New York Rangers.

After making one and assisting in two of the other Chicago tallies, the Bruins found themselves in a 4-4 tie when the final got under way. Art Jackson clinched the game by deflecting Dit Clapper's long pass into the Chicago net. Shortly after, Jackson set up Clapper for a 50-foot scoring shot to complete the game's scoring.

Jackson also notched the first Boston goal and the game's other two-time scorer was Herb Cain, who now has collected 26 goals in 25 games. The other Boston counter was registered by Flash Hollett.

The only hard-earned Chicago goal was made by Doug Bentley with Cully Dahlstrom assisting while the Bruins were playing short-handed late in the first period. Soon after the opening face-off, the puck was deflected into the Boston cage by a Bruin defenceman and Clint Smith, who was the nearest attacking player, was credited with the counter.

Twice in the second period, Boston defencemen saw their clearing shots intercepted and turned into goals by Dahlstrom and Fido Purpur.

Ben Jones Heads '43 List Of Money-Winning Trainers

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Early last season when Whirlaway was retired to stud, you could almost hear the boys snicker that now Ben Jones wouldn't be such hot stuff. But when all the returns got in Tuesday, there he was with the year's money-winning championship for trainers for the second time in three years.

Not only that, but the $267,915 his horses won in 1943 gave him $1,206,591 for the four years since he took over the conditioning of Warren Wright's Calumet farm.

Ben worked his magic on Markell and by the time the campaign ended she not only had won $48,265 and was the top older mare of the season, but she was up among the top five handicap horses.

Ocean Wave went into drydock for repairs after piling up a $26,210 bank-roll, so Ben, needing a three-year-old, took a "rookied-legged" little filly, Nellie L., and got her into condition to win $18,485. And late in the season, he came up with an unexpected three-year-old stake winner in the gelding Son of Peace, who earned $26,400.

Ben also polished up two juvenile fillies, Twilight Tear and Miss Keeneland. Between them they clicked for better than $65,000.

Manpower Problem Will Be Big One In 1944 Baseball

By WILLIAM HARRIDOE
(President of American Baseball League)

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Baseball's biggest problem, as the game approaches the 1944 season, is one of manpower—and I am confident the sport will meet this problem as successfully as it has met many others which developed in baseball's first two wartime seasons.

About 25 years ago, the game was preparing for another wartime season—that of 1918 during World War I. A check of the rosters at that time discloses that the eight American League clubs then had 250 players under contract—10 fewer than the league now has on its reserve lists for the 1944 season.

We know that scores of players, many of them stars, will join the armed forces between now and opening day next April. But our league owners are confident that their clubs will be able to field teams.

The American League now has approximately 190 of its players in the armed forces.

Some 600,000 servicemen watched our teams in 1943 as guests of our eight American League clubs. The past season saw almost 4,000,000 other fans attend American League games—a total only slightly under a banner 1942 season attendance. The 1943 attendance was backed up by a world series ticket demand which was the greatest in years and which saw the largest series crowd for a single game—69,990.

Manager, Owner Football Clubs Fined $500 Each

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football League, Tuesday dug into the bank rolls of George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, and Ralph Brizola, general manager of the Chicago Bears, to the extent of $1,000.

Layden, in the most drastic disciplinary action since he became commissioner in 1941, fined Marshall and Brizola $500 apiece for their alteration before 34,000 fans at the national pro championship playoff in Wrigley Field here Dec. 26.

The incident grew out of Brizola's efforts to remove Marshall forcibly from the Bears' bench during the closing minutes of the first half. Marshall insisted he merely had come there for a friendly half-time intermission parley, but Brizola—with the help of Jack Goldie, Bear trainer, and police—escorted the Redskins owner to a passage beneath the stands.

Layden termed the action of Marshall and Brizola "not reciprocal of the public confidence in the National Football League" and asserted they did not "promote the interest of professional football."

Commissioner Layden also set Jan. 12 and 13 as the dates for the league's annual winter meeting to be held in Chicago.

Girls' Basketball Starts on Friday

At a league meeting of the City Girls' Basketball League last evening, the Yankettes announced the withdrawal of their team and Clare Hollingsworth was delegated to draw up a schedule for the remainder of the season. The number of names appearing for a team in any one game was questioned and this figure was set at nine for the future.

All records of wins and losses to date were discarded and a contest for the league championship will start with next Friday's game at the Y.W. gymnasium.

The two teams of Y girls, the Aces and Bees, will open the evening on Friday and the Aircraft Repair will play the Bissellites at 9 o'clock. On Monday the Bees will travel to McDougall school where they will play the Starlets at 7:30 o'clock.

New Purse Value For King's Plate

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Directors of the Ontario Jockey Club announced last night that the 1944 renewal of the Kings Plate, scheduled to be run on the second Saturday of the seven-day spring meeting at Woodbine Park, will carry a purse value of $10,000 added and 50 guineas donated by the King.

The new purse value represents an increase of $2,000 for the 84-year-old Blue Ribbon event of the Canadian turf, now open to all three-year-olds foaled in Canada.

The Trial Plate, slated for its inaugural running on the first Saturday of the Woodbine meeting as a tighter for the King's Plate eligibles, will be worth $2,500 added. Entries for the King's Plate, previously open only to three-year-olds foaled in Ontario, close March 20.

Early Golf Mark Set for Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Jan. 5.—(CP)—All records for early golf were shattered in Winnipeg during the week-end when four members of the Norwood Club played nine holes New Year's day.

R. C. S. (Bob) Bruce, a member of the foursome, reported the previous record for early golf in the city was established Jan. 16, 1940.

Defenceman Butch Bouchard wound up Canadiens' first period scoring spree by scoring on a pass from Ray Gettiffe and Bob Filion.

Lorne Carr got his second and Toronto's third counter in the second period. Exactly 10 seconds later veteran skipper Toe Blake got revenge and scored the final tally of the night on an assist from Elmer Leach.

Both teams kept up their fast pace throughout the third round but it was scoreless. Goalie Paul Bibeault, who appeared against his former teammates for the first time, was kept busy and made brilliant saves. Bill Durnan also put on a fine exhibition of puck stopping.

Manpower Problem Will Be Big One In 1944 Baseball

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Baseball's biggest problem, as the game approaches the 1944 season, is one of manpower—and I am confident the sport will meet this problem as successfully as it has met many others which developed in baseball's first two wartime seasons.

About 25 years ago, the game was preparing for another wartime season—that of 1918 during World War I. A check of the rosters at that time discloses that the eight American League clubs then had 250 players under contract—10 fewer than the league now has on its reserve lists for the 1944 season.

We know that scores of players, many of them stars, will join the armed forces between now and opening day next April. But our league owners are confident that their clubs will be able to field teams.

The American League now has approximately 190 of its players in the armed forces.

Shotgun Shell Production To Be Trebled During 1944

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Ammunitionless hunters will get a bang out of this announcement: the prices board says production of shotgun shells will show a threefold increase this year.

Making the announcement here last night, the board said, however, that production still will be slightly less than 70 per cent of a normal pre-war year's output.

Rationing will continue, with the needs of essential users coming first.

But there's hope for sportsmen in this sentence in the announcement: "The increased production plans for 1944 will allow some distribution for sporting purposes later in the year."

First, however, come the essential users—trappers, farmers, those who shoot for food, war plant guards, police forces—and the bulk of the early 1944 production will go to posts in the eastern and western Arctic regions. Last year's production for civilian use was only 23 per cent of the pre-war normal and even the full needs of essential users couldn't be met.

Announcing also revision of its ration order, the board said certain types of ammunition no longer being produced but of which there are still some stocks in dealers' hands will be removed from the ration.

All authorized purchasers, including licensed trappers, plant guards and municipal police forces, now must obtain prior approval for their purchases, either from a local ration board, or in certain instances from branch ration offices.

The new order also provides that all approved and outstanding essential certificates in the hands of consumers and replenishment certificates in the hands of the trade expired Dec. 31, 1943.

Leafs, E.A.C., Mapleos Cop Midget Hockey Honors

Maple Leafs, Edmonton Athletic Club No. 1 and Mapleos got away to a flying start in the City Midget Hockey League Tuesday night when they won the opening games of the season.

Mapleos had very little trouble in gaining their initial victory by defeating the Stadium Flyers 3-1 in the fixture played at the 36 street rink. Ronnie Phillips and Eddie Frey sparked their attack with a goal and an assist each, while Goalie Eric Patterson was also outstanding for the Mapleos.

The victors took an early lead when Phillips received a pass from Frey and drove it home at the three minute mark of the first period. This was followed by Myron Luckovich scoring on a smart passing play with Loy Hart and Lyle McAr mid-way through the game and Frey shooting one past Benny Grabow in the Flyers' nets, three minutes later after picking up a relay from Phillips and Don Quinlan.

There was no scoring in the second period and John Munby let the lone Flyer counter in the third session with Norman Kemble assisting.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Eastern tennis big-wigs believe that young Charley Oliver of Perth Amboy, N.J., has developed into the best southpaw racketeer since Johnny Doeg, who won the national championship in 1930.

Naturally, there is much smacking of lips over the rise of lanky, left-handed Oliver, because stand-out eastern players have been scarcer than crocodile feathers in the past decade—or since the advent of Frank Shields and Sidney Wood.

Oliver, 12th in the men's national seedings, won the eastern indoor junction tennis crown in a walk-away Saturday by trouncing Herbert Tilles of the U.S. Naval Academy, 6-0, 6-0, 6-1, in the final at the Seventh Regiment Armory.

HAS GOOD STROKES

HOLCOMBE WARD, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, remarked afterwards, "Young Oliver is a good player for a junior." Ward, always a conservative fellow, continued, "He has good strokes. He has an excellent service, and good ground strokes. His development is an example of what we have been trying to achieve in the east with our intensified junior program for the past seven years. We have been trying to compete with other sections of the country in the development of young players—particularly the Pacific coast, where they can practice outdoors the year round."

Sam Hardy of Darien, Conn., member of the U.S.L.T.A. national ranking committee and member of junior Davis Cup committee said "Oliver certainly stands out in the east now, but you must remember that the rest of eastern players are pretty bad. Oh yes, he's good enough to make the junior Davis Cup squad."

"Just how far Oliver will go I do not know. He has terrific speed in his service and in his overhead game. But there still is much to be desired in his left-handed backhand. He's a bit weak on placements with the backhand, and he under-likes—doesn't get the top spin, like Don Budge could, for example. Still, I'll have to admit that he's the best left-handed player I've seen since Johnny Doeg."

WILL the United States have much chance of recapturing the Davis Cup from Australia when the war ends?—Hardy was asked.

He replied, "Yes, we should win the trophy back in the first Davis cup tourney after the war. We should go into that tournament with a big advantage, because we have continued national tournament play in this country, despite the war; whereas tournament play has been discontinued in Australia, Great Britain and France."

Ward was asked if the U.S.L.T.A. intended continuing the national championships this year. He answered, "We hope to. That question will be decided definitely at our annual meeting in New York on January 15. Of course, it would be on the same restricted basis as in '43. We are heartened by the fact that more tennis balls will be available this year, through the use of synthetic rubber. Last year the balls were scarce, dead, and easily broken up because re-claimed rubber had to be used in their manufacture."

Q. S. H. L. Admits Montreal Varsity

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(CP)—University of Montreal was admitted into the Quebec Senior hockey league last night, and a schedule for a four-team circuit was drawn up.

The university club had been previously admitted, but later league members expressed doubt as to the calibre of a team the club could field and demanded a player list and a $2,000 bond.

The university posted its bond at the meeting last night, and submitted its player list. After a short discussion, the remaining three teams in the loop voted to let the new squad in.

The university squad will make its bow against Commandos at Ottawa Saturday.

Toronto Jockey Almost Showed Up Top 1943 Rider

MIAMI, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Ted Atkinson, jockey idol of New York and Miami, could not catch Johnny Adams in the National standings for 1943, but thin Theodore from Toronto just about stole the show anyway.

For months you've read about his averaging 6 or more winners per day, but perhaps you'd like to have the Canadian lightweight's ideas on what makes a rider click?

"I think the two outstanding requisites for a good jockey are, first—headwork, and second—having that indefinable something that enables him to get the run out of a horse," he said.

Ted, like so many other booters queried, considers George Woolf tops of 'em all. Atkinson was asked if it is because, as another rider said, Woolf knows so many "tricks" on a horse.

"I wouldn't put it that way," replied Ted. "He's got what I've been talking about—the head, the ability to get the most out of his mounts and amazing power. What an appropriate nickname—the 'ice man'! If he's bothered in a race, he doesn't lose his head, become angry or flustered. He keeps his wits working. And, of course, he knows pace."

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Vancouver claims the only Chinese player in senior hockey—20-year-old Larry Kwong of St. Regis in the Pacific Coast League. Larry's ambitions lean toward the National League and there's a possibility he might make it because Kwong is so good the minor leagues are reported interested in him.

Kwong figures his race may help him up the ladder. He told Alf (Vancouver Sun) Cottrell: "The fans like to see a Chinese player as a curiosity. That's my good luck. But it has disadvantages. Ever since I was a midget there has always been a player or two trying to cut off my head just because I am Chinese. And the bigger the league the bigger the axe they use."

Larry will need more than a talent for arousing curiosity if he makes the big time but it's possible. A right-winger, he counted seven goals and five assists in nine games this season. He's well up in the league scoring tables in competition with many former N.H.L. players. Kwong learned his hockey at Vernon, B.C., and played senior with Trail Smoke Eaters and Nanaimo Clippers before this season.

Incidentally, Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll quotes manager Jack Adams of Detroit as saying the best defencemen in hockey were once forwards. Adams cited a long list, including Sprague Cleghorn, Eddie Shore, Babe Seibert, Dit Clapper, and explained forwards were accustomed to moving around and organizing plays. Art Barton, clever forward with the British Columbia University team which won the Canadian basketball title two years ago, has gained his army commission. Ed Horvitz, the big North Dakota University fullback, who played football with Calgary Bronks a couple of seasons, is scheduled to leave his Edmonton home today for London, Ont., to start training with the Navy.

20,966,715 Smokes Sent to Forces At Yule Season

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Canadian soldiers overseas received 20,966,715 cigarettes during the holiday season, defence headquarters reported last night. The Overseas League shipped 14,556,240 with the balance going from the Buck shoe fund, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire and other donors. The Overseas League also delivered 300,000 cigarettes for free distribution to Newfoundland troops.

Hockey Meeting Set for Today

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials had an appointment to meet Air Minister Power here this morning to ask him to reconsider his decision forbidding R.C.A.F. teams from participating in Allan or Memorial cup playdowns but sources close to the minister said yesterday they understood he had no intention of altering his decision.

There are air force teams in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Calgary, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, Arnprior, Ont., and Edmonton. The ban on air force participation in cup playdowns was imposed so that there would be no interference with air training schedules.

Suggest Asking Canadian Teams To Join Majors

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Bobby Carpenter, president of the Phillies, yesterday jarringly "go west" refrain recently adopted by big league baseball by suggesting the major loops expand northward instead, and include Canada's Montreal and Toronto teams, now represented in the International league.

Carpenter declared "It would further our good neighbor policy by inviting two Canadian cities into membership of the National and American leagues—if and when such franchises are available."

Carpenter said he believed the western movement is 15 years away and that "the majors' expansion from coast-to-coast will be sidetracked."

He also expressed the belief that major league baseball will mostly be played at night during the next five years and said he would have liked more than the 14 night games allotted the Phils for the coming season.

Corps Group Endorses Edmonton Regiment Brief

Rehabilitation Program After Demobilization Emphasized by Soldiers

Wholehearted endorsement of a brief recently submitted by the men of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment overseas to Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence during his visit to troops in Italy, was given by members of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Corps Association at a meeting in the Masonic Temple Tuesday. The brief contains suggestions for demobilization of the forces of Canada.

Copy of the submissions was mailed to the corps association by Maj. Edgar Bailey, Winnipeg, padre of the 1st Battalion, The Loyal Edmonton Regiment.

The padre observed in a covering letter that study groups have been formed in the unit for the study of demobilization.

The Edmonton fighting troops have urged the government to make sound plans for the period following demobilization. Security for all citizens, with employment at good minimum wage levels, health insurance and hospitalization along the lines of the British Beveridge plan is urged.

URGE ARMED FORCES

Canada is also urged to maintain an army, navy and air force of sufficient strength to assure security of the nation in the post-war world.

Canadian forces included in occupational armies of enemy countries should be officered and directed by Canadian officers, the Loyal Edmontonians urged.

President John Turner was chairman of the meeting and a special guest was the Edmonton branch padre, Rt. Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican bishop of Edmonton.

Election of officers for the next corps year will take place at the next monthly meeting on Feb. 1.

Plan Extension Of Industrial Survey in City

Officials for the extension of the industrial mobilization survey to Edmonton will be opened here early this year according to officials of National Selective Service.

A. O. MacLachlan, acting selective service officer, said an "employment advisor" staff will be located here.

The plan is designed to provide for the orderly withdrawal of men of military age from essential industry, and has been carried out successfully in Eastern Canada. It enables war plant employers to chart their manpower position, and the number of their workers subject to the military call-up.

In plants where the survey plan is operated employers are asked to complete a census giving factual information about every male worker of military age.

This census must include a description of the work being done, the length of time it would take to train replacements, and whether or not the job could be handled by women.

Each worker of military age will be interviewed by an "employment advisor" from the industrial survey division of National Selective Service. The complete records of every employee will be submitted to a special committee and the case of each considered.

Then in co-operation with the employer a schedule will be worked out for those subject to call, and a staggering of their releases is arranged. The schedule will be submitted to the local mobilization board for their acceptance or rejection.

The system allows the employer to plan in advance for replacements of male workers who will be called up in the army. It also will facilitate the work of the mobilization board in granting deferments. The surveys will be revised at least every six months to keep them up to date.

Once the system has gone into effect in a plant there will be a personal follow-up to make sure the employees are classified to the best advantage the employment service of Canada co-operating in filling vacancies.

The Canadian industrial mobilization survey system has attracted interest in the United States and its operations are being reported by Washington and other newspapers.

Old King Winter 'Freezes' Workers

Old King Winter put the popular trend of "freezing" employees to their jobs into reverse on Wednesday, when scores of employees of national and regional boards in the old Massey Harris Bldg., on 100 street were literally "frozen out" of their jobs for the time being.

An electric motor operating an important part of the building heating system, went on the "blink" just around closing time Tuesday. Although workmen toiled all night to get the damage repaired there was still no heat at opening time Wednesday morning.

Employees were contacted for the most part and told to stay home until the heat came back on. Offices affected were the National War Labor Board, the National Resources War Labor Board, the Regional War Labor Board and the Alaska Highway Traffic Control Board.

Board to Consult Council on School

The Edmonton public school board will request the city council to appoint a committee to consult with members of the board in connection with plans for the proposed "composite high school" to be established at Victoria High.

Decision to approach the council was made at a meeting of the board Tuesday night. Superintendent of schools, R. S. Shapard, reported that he had already discussed the project with Mayor John W. Fry and the city commissioners who had expressed their approval of the plans and suggested the matter be placed before the council.

Chairman of the board and chairman of the property and finance committees, representing the committees of the board most vitally interested in the plans will form the representation from the board.

If proposed plans for the enlarging of the present school buildings are to be carried out, additional property will have to be obtained from the city. The school board will also suggest to the council that if the city will share the expense a large gymnasium suitable for city basketball league games as well as school purposes be built.

Pipeline to Serve Project at Namao

Difficultly in finding suitable water for use on the project being constructed at Namao has necessitated the piping of supplies from the city waterworks, and work has started on the construction of a water-pipe line from the city mains to the airfield, it was learned Wednesday.

The pipeline will be run from the city water mains at 124 avenue and will be laid along 82 street to the project. The length of the line is stated to be slightly less than seven miles, and will cost approximately $120,000. An eight inch pipe line is being installed.

One-and-one-quarter miles of the line is within the city limits, and it is understood that the maintenance of the line within the city will be carried out by the city waterworks department. The Coast Construction Co., is carrying out the construction of the pipeline.

Legion Seeks Use of Land For Army Hut

Canadian Pacific Railway officials in Edmonton have promised sympathetic and careful consideration of a request by the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Legion for a small piece of ground near the C.P.R. station on which to construct a hut reception centre for welcoming servicemen returning from overseas.

J. Ivan MacKay, superintendent of the Edmonton division of the C.P.R., met a legion delegation, comprising First Vice-President J. A. Macdonald and Secretary-Manager J. W. Williams recently.

The legion sought permission for the use of a lot belonging to the railway company, just west of the Edmonton City Dairy.

It is planned to move a small prefabricated army building onto the lot if it can be obtained. Returning servicemen would be welcomed in the hut, served with refreshments, and routed to their homes.

Mr. MacKay promised the delegation the request would be forwarded to officials of the company in the east.

"Y" Club Welcomes Four New Members

The weekly meeting of the Edmonton Y's Men's club was held at the "Y" when four new members were introduced. Cec Robson introduced John Barford, Clark Ready introduced Gilbert Scott, Harold Sprague introduced Alex Stronach, and Gordon McClary introduced Edward Hamilton.

Max Dewar, the president, introduced Bert Pettigrew of the "M" depot Y services and Earl Walker of the department of transport radio range station.

The Rev. Daniel Young introduced LAC. Harold Kitchen as the speaker of the evening. LAC. Kitchen gave a picture of the political and social life in India. Speaking from personal knowledge he outlined the main problems confronting India and the British government. The main problems are the settlement of the famine in the Bengal area, and the giving to the people of India a government that they will recognize. A strong India was needed to prevent further aggression by the eastern nations, he said. The main productive area and the main centre of the present difficulties is the northern provinces.

Out of this war India was developing a social revolution. It had a great future, for in India there was a greater railway system than in Canada, and before the war India was the largest trading nation in the east. India now was planning a post war educational advance, by which it hoped to give opportunity to 50,000,000 children to obtain an education, and to double the attendance at universities to 240,000.

edmonton parade... fancy provides some comfort

She stood there on the station platform unmindful of the cold, with her eyes fixed on the horizon to see the first puff of smoke float across the gray sky heralding the arrival of the train.

It was at an Edmonton railroad station, but she in her fancy was on a train coming in, and she was sitting close by his side. The station platform was crowded with men and women in uniform.

Women were there who were either waiting as she was, or whose eyes were dry with a peculiar kind of proud misery, because for them it was "goodbye for now."

How well she knew that look because she was one of them. And it had been so long—ages ago if not forever since she had stood there, too.

Slight of frame, but standing straight and tall, she shifted her weight first from one foot and then to the other. She knew she couldn't get tired.

In the distance she heard the shrill cry of the whistle and she smiled in anticipation of the arrival of the train.

The steady circular-like rhythm echoed through the frosty air and slowly crept closer and closer until the shape of the engine was formed along the tracks.

COMES TO STOP

A tremor shook her body as the train pulled into the station with a clatter and she heard the sound of the brakes and the ebbing of the engine's energy and then it was silent.

This anniversary will be different for once again an Edmonton Regiment, is winning new glory on the flaming battle fronts of the world.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Smile, Chase Trouble
Keep Busy for Happiness

Greet the New Year With These Ten Rules for Happiness; Make Up Your Mind to Obey Each One

DEAR MISS DIX: Some years ago you published in your column an article which a number of my friends and I have found very helpful. I have loaned my copy to so many others to read and have read it myself so often that it is worn threadbare and reinforced with Scotch tape in so many places it is becoming illegible. I wonder if you would republish it? It is called "Ten Rules for Happiness."

EDITH P. C.

ANSWER: Glad to. Here are Ten Rules for Happiness.

(1) Make up your mind to be happy. Happiness is mostly a matter of self-hypnotism. You can think yourself happy, or you can think yourself miserable. It is up to you which you do. Grab all the innocent amusements that come your way. Never miss an opportunity to have harmless fun. Learn to find pleasure in simple things. If you can't go to Grand charts for set; illustrations of stitches; list of materials.

To obtain this pattern send twenty cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) to Household Arts Dept., Edmonton Bulletin, 60 Front St. W., Toronto, Ont. Write plainly name, address, pattern number.

Please allow a week or ten days for delivery.

Opera, you can turn on the radio. Nail or your face the smile that won't come off and after a bit you will find that it stays there naturally.

(2) Make the best of your lot. Of course, you haven't everything you want and things are not just right with you. Nobody is that lucky. There isn't a single human being who hasn't plenty to cry over and a lot to rejoice over, and the trick is to make the laughs outweigh the tears.

(3) Don't take yourself too seriously. Don't think that everything that happens to you is of world-shaking importance and that somehow you should have been protected against the misfortunes that befall other people. When death robs you of one you love, or you lose your money or your job, don't demand to know of High Heaven WHY this should have happened to you, and grow rebellious and morbid over your sorrow. Submit humbly to the decrees of Fate, asking WHY NOT, why you should have been spared the common lot? We are never happy until we learn what funny little things we are and are able to laugh at ourselves.

CONSIDER OTHERS

(4) Don't take other people too seriously. They are not much of a muchness, either. Don't let their criticisms worry you. You can't please everybody, so please yourself. Don't let your neighbors set your standards for you. Don't run in debt trying to keep up with the Joneses, or bore yourself to death attempting to be as intellectual as the Highbrows. Be yourself, and do the things that you enjoy doing if you want to be comfortable and happy.

(5) Don't borrow trouble. You have to pay compound interest on that and it will bankrupt you in the end if you do. It is a queer thing, but imaginary things are harder to bear than the actual ones. There are none of us but who have lain awake at night petrified with dread of some calamity that we feared might befall us and that we felt would shatter our lives if it should occur. Generally it never happened, but if it did, it wasn't so bad after all and we survived it without serious injury. Enjoy today and let tomorrow take care of itself. There is no sounder adage than that which bids us not to trouble trouble until trouble troubles us. The only good that worrying ever did anyone was to make him thin. It is grand for the figure, but hard on the disposition.

(6) Don't cherish enmities and grudges. Don't keep up old quarrels. Don't remember all the mean things people have done to you. Forget them. Hate is a deadly chemical that we distill in our own hearts and that poisons our own souls. It takes all the joy out of life and it hurts us far worse than it does anyone else. There is nothing so depressing as being angry with someone. Nothing makes a home so miserable as for the family not to be on good terms. Meeting someone you don't speak to will spoil any party. So if you have an enemy, forgive him and kiss him on both cheeks, not for his sake, but simply because it is making you unhappy and uncomfortable to be stirred up with wrath against him.

MANY INTERESTS

(7) Keep in circulation. Go around and meet people. Be a club. Travel as much as you can. The only money that you can spend and still have is that which you invest in trips. It gives you something pleasant to think about as long as you live. Have as many interests as possible. Cultivate hosts of friends. That is the way to keep yourself cheerful and jolly and believing this is the best of all possible worlds. It is the little bird that hops around that sings a merry roundelay, not the claim that stays shut up in its shell and that never utters a peep.

(8) Don't hold postmortems. Don't spend your life brooding over the mistakes you have made, or the sorrows that have befallen you. What is done, is done, and cannot be changed, but you have your whole future life in which to make good. Not all of our tears can bring back these we have lost, but we can make life miserable for ourselves and those about us by our unavailing weeping. Quit beating upon your breast because you haven't as much money as you used to have. Don't be one of those who never "get over" things. Have the courage to take misfortune on the chin, and come up smiling.

(9) Do something for somebody less fortunate than yourself. Minister to other people's troubles. It will make you forget your own. Happiness is a coin that we keep only when we give it away.

By WM. E. MCKENNEY, America's Card Authority

Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia confirmed her right to the rank of Life Master by winning the national mixed pair championship. She is one of the five women in the United States who holds the Life Master title. This victory gave her partner, Charles H. Goren, the title of the outstanding player for 1943, an honor won for the past two years by Mrs. A. M. Sobel.

Goren's daring bid of a three-card suit and his close double of three hearts gave him a top score on today's hand. When East's opening lead held the first trick, she shifted to the ten of spades because of Goren's spade bid. De-

Your Baby
And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRER

Many a mother thinks all of her troubles are over when she can put her baby on a bottle. The moment she knows how much food the baby is consuming she need never worry that he isn't getting enough to eat. Or, when he is obviously hungry, she can always provide more food!

The above is true, but there is more to successful bottle feeding than just the concoction of a good formula. There is still the feeding of this formula.

It is better, from various standpoints, to hold the baby when he is fed. It is possible then to keep the bottle at an angle which allows for the nipple to be kept full of milk. This lessens the chances of the baby swallowing both air and milk and soon becoming so stuffed he cannot swallow the remainder of his formula.

Holding the baby allows him to enjoy the same sweet, warm, comforting relationship with the parent as is the lot of the nursing baby. It is a relationship without which the baby is infinitely poorer. It is apparent, too, when mother holds the bottle and the nipple goes flat, as it does when exhausted of air, she can immediately remedy the difficulty. The poor baby on his own can only gnaw and suck on the flat object without getting a drop of sustenance from it.

And, as important as any factor is the opportunity the mother has to note when baby is slowing down—even though the bottle is still full—and to pick up baby and let him belch up that air bubble.

There are no reasons except those of time-saving, to prop the bottle in baby's bed and leave him to his own devices. In that case the baby manages until he falls asleep, often with the nipple in his mouth. That is one of those bad habits the undesirability of which does not show up until the baby is older and is being weaned to a cup. Then his reluctance to lie down without a bottle provides a real handicap to his acceptance of this new and more grown-up way of drinking.

The rules then are to hold the baby, adjust the bottle as it empties, release the nipple occasionally to allow air to flow in and burp the baby once or twice during a feeding. When he is all through put him in his bed to sleep.

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Scotch barley broth with lots of inexpensive vegetables, makes a buxom winter dish. Here's the way Reginald Stewart, director of the new Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, likes it. The broth and the Canadian Fruits Nouvelles recipe are two of his favorites.

EDINBURGH BRAWNY BROTH

(Serves 4-6)

One quart water, 1/2 pound shoulder lamb, 1/2 cup Scotch barley, 1/2 cup diced carrots, 1/2 cup diced celery, 1 onion, 1/2 cup diced white turnip, 1 cup tomato juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, 1 teaspoon thyme.

Cut the lamb in very small pieces. Place in water with onion, barley and seasoning. Bring to boil and allow to simmer for one hour and a half. Add carrots, celery, turnips and tomato juice. Simmer for one hour more.

CANADIAN FRUITS NOUVELLES

One banana, 2 oranges, 1/2 grapefruit, 12 casaba melon balls or pieces, 2 tablespoons grenadine.

Peel, cut up and chill fruit; then place in layers in highball glasses which have been previously frosted in refrigerator. Return to refrigerator for two hours. Add grenadine to each glass before serving. Finish off with sprig of fresh mint (if available).

A. Hlynka, Bride Feted

Honoring Anthony Hlynka, M.P. for Vegreville, and his bride, 300 Edmontonians of Ukrainian origin attended a reception and dinner held on New Year's Day at the Ukrainian National Hall, 10012 109 avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Hlynka were married recently in Toronto.

Mrs. Katherine Zyskavich presented the guests-of-honor with a desk and chair, on behalf of the Ukrainian Greek Catholic organization and the Ukrainian Women's organization.

Turkey dinner was served and the menu included several Ukrainian dishes such as "holuptsi".

This is Mrs. Hlynka's first trip west and she said she was much impressed by the warm friendliness and hospitality of western Canadian people.

A program of group singing of Ukrainian Christmas songs and dancing was presented and speaker during the evening included: the Rev. Kamensky, Andrew Kmurko, John Kozlak, P. A. Mis-kew and John Esaiw.

Out-of-Town Pair Married

A wedding of wide interest was solemnized in Edmonton on New Year's Eve when Miss Florence Benton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benton of Red Deer, became the bride of Cpl. Joseph Dutka, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dutka of Edson.

Miss Cecilia Beaton was her sister's only attendant, and Stanley Pawlick was best man.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Hughes, when Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. John Loden, sisters of the bridegroom, were co-hostesses at a reception. A three-tiered wedding cake was placed on the bride's table.

On New Year's Day the newlyweds were honored guests at a dinner held at the home of Mrs. Hughes.

Col. and Mrs. Dutka left later to spend a few days in Red Deer prior to taking up residence in Vulcan, where the bridegroom is stationed.

Grand Hogmanay Rally Is Held

The "Grand Hogmanay Rally" sponsored by the Orkney, Shetland and Calthness Society was held in All Saints' Parish hall on New Year's Eve.

More than 300 guests were welcomed by the president, Oliver Sinclair.

A concert program was given. Those taking part were: Miss Gertrude Potts, Miss Violet Camillo, Miss Gloria Camillo, Miss Margaret Camillo. Vocal soloists included C. S. Crockett and Hamish Gillespie. Archie Buchanan gave several violin selections.

Mrs. Mary McPherson, Miss Lillian Foster, Miss Edythe Johnston, and Miss Margaret Macdonald appeared in several Highland dancing numbers. Ralph Couper and Robert McPherson were accompanists. William Ness acted as emcee.

The evening concluded with dancing. Those in charge of arrangements were William Miller, Alex Thomson, Arthur B. Miller, Archie Buchanan, Jack Burger, William Hareus, Harry Kirkwood, and William Reid.

What To Do

Is it all right to go with men who work in the office where I do? One of the men has asked me several times to have dinner with him, but I have pleaded another engagement so far.

ANSWER—If this man of whom you speak is presentable and unattached—and you believe you will enjoy yourself, I see no reason to avoid him. However, if the man is your superior, and you work directly for him, I would advise against it because the situation causes gossip and it is hard to return to office routine after being on a social basis.

Nevertheless circumstances play a great part in these things, and you are the best judge.

Minute Make-Ups

Cream rouge lasts and looks more natural than dry compact rouge. To be sure that your cheeks and lips are in perfect harmony of color use your lipstick as rouge. Make three little dots, then blend carefully, after applying your powder.

Cards have been sent to members who have been ill or bereaved, and Christmas greetings were sent to those who have moved away during the year.

Due to wartime conditions the social activities of the W.A. have been kept to a minimum.

The W.A. also has been pleased to assume the financial responsibility of the broadcast of the church service once a month.

Hitler's Mata Hari Murdered in Europe

LONDON, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Mady Soyka, a Mata Hari of this war, known once as the best dressed woman in Central Europe, is dead.

A Vienna newspaper has announced that "Mady Soyka has been taken from us forever by a cowardly murder with robbery in occupied territory." Feeling here is that whatever that end was, it was a fitting one for the shady lady who tried to poison Austrian society with Nazi propaganda and who spied for her boss Hitler in almost every capital of Europe.

Her last efforts were in Paris, and when the Germans took over the people who had been her friends were imprisoned and she was rewarded with the ownership of one of the most flourishing cafes in the Champs Elysee.

Laundry Girls Find No Glamor

By MARGARET ECKER

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Jan. 5.—(CP)—They found no glamor and no adventure—the Canadian Women's Army Corps laundry workers who came to England.

They came to do a job, and they are doing it for long hours, in a room thick with steam. They live in tin huts in an army camp under field conditions. But there isn't a C.W.A.C. among them who isn't glad she came.

The wind blows coldly between the big laundry building and the sprawling living quarters, but the girls say they don't feel that cold any more and their cheeks glow red.

"I have the hardest time making them keep their coats buttoned up," said Capt. Ethel English of Vancouver, the commanding officer.

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY

Pte. Helen Kuster of Dauphin, Man., was standing before a mirror putting curlers in her hair. Pte. Irene Martin of Hamilton, Ont., and Pte. Jean MacKay of Hardisty, Alta., chatted happily as they took a busman's holiday in the laundry room where they were washing out their scanties.

Most of the girls wear overalls around this camp, or the British women's battledress.

Capt. English led us along to the officers' quarters. They, too, were in tin huts, warm and cheery inside with chairs, covers and knick-knacks from home.

"I don't think any officer is more comfortable than I am," said Capt. English, showing us her comfortable bedroom with rugs and an easy chair.

Art News

By MARGARET CHAPPELLE

The past year saw much growth and development of art in Edmonton. In September, a summer school sponsored by the University Extension Department was held for two weeks, under the guidance of H. Glyde and Walter Phillips. Sixty students were enrolled. Out of this school has grown a life class which meets every Wednesday evening in the Arts Building of the University.

Mr. Glyde comes to Edmonton from Calgary once a month to work with this group.

Early in October the Edmonton Museum of Arts held a Museum Week, to acquaint the public with the important activities carried on by the Museum. One hundred and ten students from seven to 14 years of age have enrolled for the Saturday morning classes of painting and modeling. Classes for young people between 14 and 20 have commenced on Friday evening, and Mrs. F. M. Mortimer holds classes on Monday and Wednesday evenings. All these classes are held at the Museum.

A new organization of women called the Museum Society, has been formed to aid and work with the Museum of Arts. This society, headed by Mrs. R. B. Wells, will plan a yearly program of entertainment, hold monthly teas in the Museum for large groups and to maintain a larger attendance at the Museum exhibits. A membership fee will be held in January and it is hoped that many new members will be added to the Museum.

Mr. Glyde and A. Y. Jackson were commissioned by the Canadian government to paint the north country. On their return they were entertained by the Edmonton Art club, and all other organizations at a large reception held at the Museum of Arts. Mr. Jackson gave a talk on the northern trip.

MASS MEETING

In November the Federation of Canadian Artists held a mass meeting of all art organizations at the Museum. A film on A. Y. Jackson was shown and tea was served in aid of the Museum of Arts. The Edmonton Art club held a successful sale of small paintings two weeks prior to Christmas. The Alberta Society of Artists will hold an exhibition for January at the Museum of Arts, Civic Block.

Girl Guides Train To Work in Europe

LONDON.—(CP)—More than 500 British girls are undergoing training as rigorous as commando training in its own way to prepare themselves for an important part in the rehabilitation of postwar Europe.

The Spartans in skirts, all Girl Guides, are studying and are doing vigorous physical training, so that when Europe is free they will be equipped to help re-establish impoverished and shattered communities.

The girls are working the hard way for what will be a hard life. For more than a year they have lived in England under the same living conditions they expect to encounter in Europe.

Sixty of the girls, all over 21 and chosen for the job because of high qualifications, have been living in one of the worst blitzed communities in the United Kingdom. They sleep in houses too badly bombed to be repaired and cook their food under primitive conditions. There is no heat, lighting or water. All water for washing, cooking and bathing has to be boiled in the street.

Before this "hardship test" the girls had undergone 12 months of hard training, which included camping out in midwinter.

Study of languages is an important part of the course and the girls are learning Polish, Greek and Yugoslavian. Child psychology, particularly the care of war-terrified children, is part of the course as are dietetics and nutrition. gelle grandmothers and one great-grandmother.

The grey-haired women, most of whom worked in war factories during the last war, do vital jobs soldering, paint-spraying, drilling and assembling. The plant-manager said that they are among his most efficient and most dependable workers.

City Naval Officer In Labrador Patrol

By MARGARET ECKER

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Weather, icebergs and a necessarily restricted diet were the main discomforts of crews of a flotilla of submarine-chasing motor launches—first Royal Canadian Navy ships to patrol off Labrador—now back at their home ports here.

Lieut. Jack Sharp of Duncan, B.C., commanded the flotilla of six sub-chasers, which operated from its mother ship, H.M.C.S. Preserver—one of two which the R.C.N. recently announced have been in service for more than a year. The other mother ship is H.M.C.S. Provider. They serve as fuel, supply and repair bases for the motor launches.

Lieut. Ross McDermid of Winnipeg, commanding officer of one of the launches, termed the morale of the crews "wonderful," despite monotony, constant patrolling, cold weather and dehydrate food. "I never thought such a bunch of kids could brave it like they did," he said.

The flotilla didn't encounter any submarines, but the crews said the presence of the motor launches was responsible for the fact no ships were sunk. Other officers serving with the flotilla were Lieut. John Stevenson and Sub-Lt. S. C. Kilbank, Vancouver; Sub-Lt. E. U. Anderson, Victoria; Sub-Lt. George C. Field, Edmonton; Sub-Lts. D. J.

SUB-LT. G. C. FIELD

Jessiman and W. P. Munsie, Winnipeg.

Sub-Lt. Field is the son of S. W. Field, K.C., and Mrs. Field of 13101 104 avenue.

Plan One Appeal For War Relief

OTTAWA, Jan. 5.—(CP)—War Services officials said yesterday they have proposed that one joint appeal be made to the Canadian people for contributions to the relief of distressed people in United Nations countries and countries overrun by the enemy.

Last year appeals were made on behalf of Russia, China and Greece, but this year 11 national committees are planning to seek help from the Canadian people for relief in various European and Asiatic countries. War service department officials have sent questionnaires to these committees suggesting that all their campaigns be combined in one drive.

With the Fifth Victory Loan drive out of the way and also the community chest, the preferred spot for a public appeal will be allotted to the Canadian Red Cross. While the date for the Canadian Red Cross drive has yet to be decided, it is expected it will to some extent, overlap the drive in United States which is set for March 1.

Death Rate Is Low Among Casualties

CAIRO, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Of nearly 30,000 battle casualties treated at Allied hospitals in the Middle East in the year ending April, 1943, there was a mortality rate of only 2.1 per cent, an analysis disclosed yesterday. Total deaths during the period were 611. This compares to a 7.44 per cent mortality rate in hospitals in Egypt and Palestine in the last war.

Says Giant Planes To Replace Liners

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the United States Maritime Commission, believes the airplane will supersede giant liners like the Normandie, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth and that no more will be built. Superliners, he said in a speech Monday night, live on high-priced passenger traffic and revenues from mail. The airplane will cut heavily into both these fields.

U.S. Reveals Two Lost Destroyers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The United States navy last night identified the destroyer sunk by an explosion off Sandy Hook as the 1,700-ton U.S.S. Turner, and said another destroyer, torpedoed in the North Atlantic, was the 1,090-ton Leary. Loss of the ships was announced by the navy Monday, but it withheld their names. The Turner, commissioned last April, blew up in New York harbor with such violence that her men and guns were hurled into the sea. Little detail was given on the loss of the 34-year-old Leary except that she sank in the North Atlantic after she was torpedoed Christmas Eve.

Big Bombers Raid Rail Bridge, Yards South of Sofia

ALGIER, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A small force of Allied heavy bombers, escorted by fighters, yesterday blasted a railway bridge and the rail yard at Dupnitsa, south of the Bulgarian capital of Sofia, it was announced today.

The Allied ground commander said 5th Army troops had captured an "important height" in Italy, while Indian troops of the 8th Army seized a "commanding position" against stiff machine-gun fire.

Neckercuffs of sailors were designed to be used as slings or tourniquets for battle injuries.

Try This Old Home-Mixed Cough Relief. Surprising!

Anyone Can Make It. No Cooking. Big Saving. You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, in just a moment, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it is hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from

U.S. Will Buy 100,000,000 Bus. Canada Wheat

By FRED BAILEY

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin. Copyright, 1944, by British United Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The U. S. War Food Administration reported today that it had arranged for the purchase of more than 100,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat for use as livestock feed.

Part of the wheat already has been brought into eastern Great Lakes ports by boat, and railroad cars will be sent into the interior of Canada for additional large quantities this winter.

The Canadian wheat purchases were disclosed after the Office of Price Administration announced new domestic price ceilings under which wheat at all markets will bring prices that OPA said would reflect 100 per cent. parity to the grower, exclusive of any government payments.

NEW CEILINGS

The new wheat ceilings, expanding price control to all types, established a price of $1.63 a bushel for No. 1 hard winter wheat at Kansas City; $1.64 a bushel for No. 1 heavy dark northern spring wheat at Minneapolis; and increased the basic soft wheat price to $1.72 a bushel for No. 1 soft red at terminal markets of Chicago and St. Louis. Prices for those types at specified markets included the 1 1/2 cent charge by commission men.

The arrangements for sending American railroad cars into the main wheat producing belt of Canada has increased import prospects by 25,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels during the past month, the WFA said. Rail transport will assure eastern feeders a continued grain supply during the months that water transportation in the Great Lakes is closed by ice.

Britain Sees Nazi Collapse By Next Fall

TORONTO, Jan. 5.—(CP)—There is a general conviction in Britain that Germany will surrender by the end of the coming summer, Premier Drew of Ontario said yesterday at a press conference at which he issued a prepared statement and then answered questions on his one-month overseas trip from which he returned at the week-end.

One basis for the conviction, he said, are the bombing raids and "the wonder is that Germany has been able to stand the bombing as long as she has."

"I saw convincing evidence in the case of one German city that 90 per cent of its buildings were not useable. While that was only one, the percentage of buildings out of commission in many German cities is no high that it is difficult to see how city life can be carried on."

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Stonewall Ballengee, 73, a gold prospector who once struck it rich, surrendered last night at the Idaho prison from which he escaped 25 years ago after serving about two years of a 5-10 year sentence for voluntary manslaughter.

Cost of Invasion May Prove To Be "Surprisingly Low"

MONTREAL, Jan. 5.—(CP)—The cost in men and material of a cross-channel invasion of Europe might be "surprisingly low" if the attack were made in the right way at the right moment, Erwin D. Canham, managing editor of The Christian Science Monitor, told a service club yesterday.

Before the Magistrate

Helmut Hahan, pleading guilty before Magistrate A. I. Miller, K.C., to a charge of dangerous driving, was fined $25 or 35 days in city police court, Wednesday morning. He was told that his license was not being suspended, but was warned that this was because of present conditions. Under normal conditions, the driving permit would have been cancelled, he was told.

John Romanuk was found guilty of assaulting Asant Gorgichuk, 65 years old, by striking him and was assessed $15 or 21 days. Trouble arose in the complainant's home, where Romanuk has a suite of rooms, and through which the complainant had to pass going to or from his own room. Words over the suitcase of another man who was going to share the complainant's room led to blows, it was stated.

William M. Parker, pleading guilty to a charge of dangerous driving, was fined $10 or 14 days. The court was informed that Parker had struck another auto at 100 avenue and 104 street on Dec. 23. Before the impact, the accused's vehicle had skidded 45 feet, and after the collision, pushed the second car six feet.

Pleading guilty to delivering 473 bushels of wheat when not having a permit from the Canadian Wheat Board so to do, Albert Lema was fined $15 or 21 days. On a second charge, of having delivered 473 bushels of wheat, 459 bushels in excess of his quota set as at that time established, he received a similar penalty. The terms are to run consecutively.

Ten Most Useful Military Classes Lost to Hitler

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 5.—(AP)—The Russian winter offensive and the threat of invasion from the west finds Germany's front-line troops made up largely of youths of 18 and 19 and men from 30 to 38, the Berlin correspondent of the Malmoe Sydsvenska Dagbladet wrote yesterday.

Hitlerian campaigns to date have "completely destroyed the 10 most useful German military classes" (the 20- to 29-year-old groups), said the correspondent, Sven Hansson, who recently returned to Malmoe from the debris-strewn Nazi capital.

The correspondent said that because of losses Hitler is having difficulty "stretching his forces around the 'European fortress' for adequate defence."

U.S. Engineers Win Award For Safety Service

The entire staff of the Edmonton district of the U.S.E.D. attended a ceremony in the Edmonton Motors Bldg. Wednesday when an award from the National Safety Council of the United States was made to representatives here of the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

The award is made for distinguished service to safety. District Engineer Lt.-Col. R. W. Lockridge; Maj. Robert C. Moffitt, executive officer; Capt. N. Williams, control officer, and Lt. J. M. Benson, safety officer for Edmonton district, were on the platform for the ceremony.

Maj. Moffitt read a prepared address of Lt.-Col. Lockridge. A sore throat prevented the district engineer from personally delivering the address.

Edmonton Flier Aboard Bomber In Daring Raid

By FO. VIC BAKER WITH THE R.C.A.F. BOMBER GROUP OVERSEAS, Jan. 5.—(CP)—Despite being combed by three night fighters over Berlin, Flt. Sgt. J. A. R. Coulombe and his crew carried on with their bombing run, dropped a blockbuster right on the aiming point and then brought their Lancaster safely back to base.

The 23-year-old French-Canadian pilot from Montmagny, Que., flying with the Thunderbird squadron, said when the heavy four-engine bomber reached the target a master searchlight caught the aircraft and soon it was coned by the concentrated belt of lights surrounding the target. Flak started to come up the beams.

Three night fighters closed in and began attacking. Several hits were made on the fuselage. In the last attack a fighter let go his whole charge of cannon-shells and machine-gun tracer in one blinding flash of red. Fortunately, however, the shells and machine-gun bullets riddled the wings only without injuring any member of the crew and only holed tanks in the port wing.

"It was a queer feeling lying above a huge block-buster while these attacks were going on," said the air bomber, P.O. George V. Daymond of 10733 123 street, Edmonton.

Bombs away, they dove out of the target area. Though the wings were riddled, the hydraulics, unserviceable, turrets, flaps, undercarriage and air-brakes gone, the bomber's four engines were still ticking over and the crew was able to bring the heavy plane back to a coastal airfield.

Inspection after landing showed the cowling on the port outer engine had been holed and the motor's vital cylinders just missed by inches; the oil tank feeding the port inner engine was holed, the engine just about dried out and ready to quit; the port side of the fuselage looked like a sieve with everything including the bomb doors holed; the fairings which cover the wheels of the undercarriage when in withdrawn position were shot away completely and one tire had been burst by a bullet.

Drought Conditions In the United States Are Growing Serious

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—(AP)—A protracted dry spell persisted on the midwestern prairies in the United States yesterday while farmers hoped a long overdue carpet of snow would cover their land.

A survey indicated the aridity was causing some concern, but that copious spring rains could get planters off to a good start on the job of raising the food needed to win the war.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—(AP)—Drought conditions again are plaguing the western great plains, threatening the winter wheat crop. J. B. Kincer, crop specialist of the United States weather bureau, said last night that prospects for the fall-seeded grain crop are poor in western Oklahoma, central and western Kansas, most of Nebraska, and eastern Wyoming.
